Emergency Defense Fund Authorization Up For House Vote

Twining Says U.S. Has Present Power To Cope With Attack

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The House agreed today to vote tomorrow on a $548,226,000 authorization bill for emergency space age defenses.

Prompt clearance by the House Rules Committee was expected for the legislation, which came to Congress only a week ago. It is part of President Eisenhower's request for some $14 billion in supplemental defense funds for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Meanwhile both the House and Senate continued their investigations of U.S. progress in the ballistic missiles field in the light of recent Russian advances.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that the United States has present power of retaliation that would be effective and sufficient.

Closed-Door Session
The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff testified behind closed doors and his testimony was relayed to newsmen.

He was quoted as saying Congress and the nation should go slow on various proposals to reshuffle the Joint Chiefs of Staff or revamp present missions assigned to the Army, Navy and Air Force.

It was reported on the House side that the Navy will be firing test models of its 1,500-mile Polaris missile by early 1960.

The Polaris, designed for launching from atomic submarines above or below water, has been described in some quarters as the best weapon in sight to counter the threat of Soviet intercontinental missiles.

McElroy Testifies
Secretary of Defense McElroy, who is testifying at closed-door sessions of the House Armed Services Committee, is reported to have held out hope that production orders for test models of the Polaris will be issued before July 1, 1959.

At the Senate inquiry, George M. Bunker, an executive of the Glenn L. Martin Co., was quoted as saying that production of the Air Force Titan, a 5,000-mile missile, could be speeded up at relatively small financial risk.

The authorization bill given the go-ahead in the House today is mainly a construction measure. It does not contain any authorization for missiles or long-range bombers, which are covered in the other half of Eisenhower's request and are still being considered by the house appropriations committee.

30 Taken Off Grounded Ship

OBAN, Scotland, Jan. 14 (AP)—A frantic 17-hour search for a small British warship ended tonight with the rescue of the 30-man crew off the stormy west coast of Scotland.

Several seamen, weak from exposure in biting cold and spray, were plucked to safety as their ship lay awash to the decks with a gaping hole in her side. Others made their way to a deserted island.

The Admiralty said first reports indicated there were no serious casualties among the crew of the 750-ton harbor defense vessel Barcombe. The ship grounded on Garvelloch Island where the only building is an abandoned light-house.

Reunion At Idlewild

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Dr. Jerzy Leon Nowinski, a renowned Polish scientist who was granted political asylum here after defecting to the West last fall, was reunited today with his wife and daughter.

He met his wife, Maria, and their daughter, Krystina, 7, as they arrived at Idlewild Airport from London.

Bill To Raise Debt Ceiling Introduced

Five-Billion-Dollar Boost Requested By Administration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The administration asked today for a five-billion-dollar increase in the national debt limit, to 280 billions.

First reaction in Congress pointed to approval, as a matter of regretful necessity in view of the ever-climbing costs of national defense.

The debt has already pressed to within less than 750 million dollars of the present 275-billion limit.

Chairman Mills (D-Ark.) and Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee introduced a bill to carry out the request from the Treasury for lifting the ceiling.

They expressed regret in a joint statement that even a temporary increase might be needed, but said Congress would have to give consideration to the request under "present world conditions and the realities of managing our nation's fiscal affairs on an orderly basis."

Hearings Scheduled
Mills said the committee would hold public hearings next Friday, with Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and Budget Director Percival Brundage as the first witnesses.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) said the Senate Finance Committee would take up the matter as soon as the House acted and hold "full and open hearings."

Byrd has been the staunchest advocate in Congress of a debt limit, but indications were that he would go along with some increase at this time.

"We will take action that is proper and right in the light of military needs and the best interests of the United States," he said.

Trouble On Another Front
While the administration seemed to be winning support for its debt limit proposal, trouble developed on another financial matter—President Eisenhower's proposal to hold back spending on new water resources projects.

Eisenhower said in his budget message yesterday he wants to bar new starts on such projects at this time, so as to help finance defense spending without raising taxes.

However, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) told questioners after a White House call that he and other Republican congressional leaders told Eisenhower to expect resistance.

Rival Indonesia Regime Hinted

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Jan. 14 (AP)—Important political leaders were reported today to have met in Sumatra and discussed founding a new Indonesian state under popular Mohammed Hatta, who has broken with President Sukarno.

The Nationalist party newspaper Suluh Indonesia hinted the purpose was to set up a national government rivaling the central government of Sukarno. Sukarno now is away on an extended foreign tour.

Hatta, former vice president in the central government, split with Sukarno more than a year ago. He objected to Sukarno's policies of taking Communists into the government and installing a vague sort of system called a guided democracy.

A Sumatran sympathetic with demands for autonomy by the outer islands, Hatta shares with Sukarno the distinction of having fathered the Indonesian Republic.

Vets' Pensions Issue Causes French Crisis

PARIS, Jan. 14 (AP)—An angry war veterans' lobby today plunged Premier Felix Gaillard's young government into a crisis within hours after a new session of Parliament convened.

Gaillard, who had hoped to begin debate on foreign affairs, was forced to change tactics and demand a vote of confidence.

The vote — the ninth of which he has staked his government's life in 2½ months — will be taken in the National Assembly Thursday.

Gaillard found himself under furious attack because of his plan to postpone until the end of the year the usual quarterly pension payments made to veterans and prisoners of World War I.

Although the sum involved was small — five billion francs or about 12 million dollars — it provided an explosive issue. Mail, telegrams and telephone calls poured in on the deputies of all parties.

Paris veterans called protest meetings near the Arc de Triomphe.

They urged the deputies to vote down the government plan for postponing payment — part of its over-all economies in the 1958 austerity budget — and keep the old system.

HST Approves Ike's Summit Talk Terms
NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman today called President Eisenhower's proposed lower-than-summit meetings with Russia a perfect idea.

He added that any eventual summit meeting should be held in the United States. Truman pointed out to newsmen on his morning stroll that he, Roosevelt and Eisenhower all made long trips to confer with heads of foreign states.

"It's about time they came over here," Truman declared. "I told Stalin if he wanted to see me any more he would have to come over here."

Federal Pay Boost Plans Outlined By White House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Administration proposals to give a billion-dollar annual pay boost to several million federal workers and service personnel were outlined today by the White House.

If Congress approves, the pay of most persons who work for the government would go up at least 6 per cent next July 1. Beyond that, special pay incentives would be made available for scientists, managers and workers with sought-after skills or training.

In his budget message to Congress yesterday, President Eisenhower said the salary hikes are needed to attract and keep trained personnel essential for defense and other activities.

The pay plans will be detailed later in special messages to Congress. However, a White House statement today sketched them in general terms.

Here is how most persons on the U.S. payroll would be affected:

1. The nearly one million Civil Service workers would get an increase of at least 6 per cent.
 2. A general 6 per cent increase would go to the 500,000 postal workers.
 3. All military personnel with more than two years service would get a minimum 6 per cent increase in base pay.
- In an effort to keep trained men in service, the plan would give the military great flexibility in deciding how to parcel out periodic pay boosts. Less emphasis would be placed on length of service — the traditional basis — and more consideration would be given to merit.

Nine Killed In Navy Plane Crash

Canada Liberal Leader Attacks Conservatives

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 (AP)—Liberal leader Louis St. Laurent charged tonight the Conservative government had led Canada into a state of uneasiness and uncertainty during its seven months in office.

The 75-year-old former prime minister, retiring after 10 years as head of the Liberal party, declared the Conservatives had failed to produce clear and firm policies to replace those advanced by the Liberals.

"There is a growing uncertainty about defense," he said, "about trade, about investment, about employment, about the state of the national budget and the lack of clear and firm policies for the future."

St. Laurent spoke to a three-day national convention of the Liberal party, called to choose his successor and chart a program to help win back the power it lost in last June's upset election.

He offered no specific program to the party except an appeal to Liberals to "hold fast to the Liberal faith, to plan for a larger future, to promise only what we believe we can perform and benefit Canada by performing, to trust the people and to deserve their trust."

St. Laurent, who succeeded W. L. Mackenzie King as party leader and prime minister in 1948, was picked personally by Mackenzie King for the job. But he has adopted a strict hands-off policy in the selection of his own successor.

As he spoke this morning, the two leading candidates — former Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson and former Health Minister Paul Martin — sat side by side in the front row of the platform.

Pearson still was a strong favorite to win the leadership, but Martin claimed he was gaining strength. The voting will take place Thursday night.

Subway Train Fire Delays Commuters

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—An engine caught fire underneath Park avenue today, knocking out all train service at Grand Central Terminal for an hour. Sixty thousand commuters jammed the station at the evening rush hour only to find themselves in a trainless bottleneck.

All New York Central and New Haven Railroad trains use the station at 42nd St. and Vanderbilt Ave.

The insulating unit on an out-bound New Haven train caught fire in the tunnel between 79th and 82nd streets shortly after 3:30 p.m. A flicker of panic raced through the 750 passengers on the 10-car train as smoke billowed back through the coaches and up through Park avenue gratings.

The passengers quickly calmed, however, and sat out the next two hours in the crippled train. A Pogkeepsie-bound New York Central train behind the crippled one also was marooned.

Eventually, the burning engine was shunted off and the fire put out.

Cuban Rebel Bands Pillage And Plunder

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 14 (AP)—Fidel Castro's rebels swept down out of the mountains today and sealed off the bustling sugar shipping city of Manzanillo in a daylight rampage of pillage and plunder. Then they slipped away before nightfall.

Castro's men set fire to sugar cane fields, smashed equipment, burned automobiles and buses, attacked trains and seized prisoners. It was the first time in Castro's 13-month guerrilla war against the government that his forces had penetrated the outskirts of Manzanillo.

Apparently Castro pulled back his forces rather than risk an open battle with government troops. The army long has awaited a chance to meet the vastly outnumbered Castro rebels in an open fight.

After the pullback, the eastern Cuban city returned to normal. For hours the rebels had the city of 100,000 blockaded. They seized and burned cars and buses at the city's gates in a search for politicians and army officers marked by Castro as enemies of the Cuban people.

Sarah Churchill, Jailed Monday, Fulfills TV Date

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14 (AP)—Jailed yesterday as a drunk actress Sarah Churchill today played the lead role in an hour-long television drama entitled "The Makropoulos Secret."

Critics thought she gave a creditable performance in the role of an ageless Hungarian singer who had a strange knowledge of the past. They said they detected no speech flaws in her lines.

Miss Churchill, daughter of British statesman Sir Winston Churchill, spent five hours in jail yesterday on a complaint by the General Telephone Co. that she used profane and obscene language over the phone.

Sheriff's deputies said they arrested her only after she climbed into their car, holding a glass of rum, and then resisted efforts to get her out.

The 44-year-old actress is to be arraigned in Malibu Beach Justice Court Thursday on a charge of being drunk in public view.

Pressure Building Up For Increases In Eisenhower's Military Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—A big head of steam is building up inside the armed forces — and outside, too — in favor of more defense spending than President Eisenhower has recommended.

In contrast with last year, when Congress cut the over-all federal budget, 1958 may see an effort to increase defense spending, particularly in the category of missiles and other weapons of the future.

Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of the Defense Appropriations subcommittee in the House, has called the new $39,800,000,000 defense budget "conservative" in its plans for the development of space weapons. He said it might have to be increased.

Even before Eisenhower presented his military budget to Congress, Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, had taken were forced out and searched. But others were driven off by the rebels and burned. Some occupants were marched off as prisoners.

The rebels burned a bus after routing its passengers and taking an army corporal prisoner.

Dispatches from Manzanillo said the rebels controlled all the roads and highways leading to the city.

Rebel bands attacked passenger trains and held up buses bound for Havana and Santiago de Cuba. On the outskirts, Castro men raided rice supply centers and destroyed thousands of dollars worth of motorized equipment.

French Aid Plea Coolly Received

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The United States is reported adopting a fairly hard-boiled attitude toward France's plea for emergency financial aid to help it weather an anticipated half-billion dollar deficit.

Top officials said they are ready to authorize limited help but only after further proof Premier Felix Gaillard's government seriously intends to take vigorous action to lick inflation and curb excess spending.

The 64-nation International Monetary Fund, where the United States holds a big vote, also is understood to be far from enthusiastic about allowing the French to draw the full 262 million dollar allotment they are reported to seek.

Both the Eisenhower administration and the fund appear to be reluctant to act unless there are solid signs the French will put their financial house in order.

Jean Monnet, French economic chief who is here to present France's case, appears to be delaying start of formal talks until he tests the financial climate in the capital.

Dodge Plant Closed

DETROIT, Jan. 14 (AP)—Chrysler Corp. has closed its Dodge main plant in suburban Hamtramck until Jan. 20, laying off 6,000 workers. The step was taken to reduce new cars in dealer inventories.

Unemployment Climbs Despite Holiday Hiring

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The government reported today that 3,374,000 Americans were unemployed last month despite holiday hiring. The jobless figure was 186,000 higher than in November.

The monthly joint report of the Commerce and Labor departments also indicated a far bigger jump in unemployment may be in store this month. It noted that claims for federal-state unemployment benefits increased by more than half a million since the December jobless count was taken.

More than one in every 20 Americans was unemployed last month, the report said. The exact figure was 5.2 per cent of the labor force. This was the highest December rate since 1949 and the highest for any month in three years.

December employment figures were down by 477,000, to a total of 64,396,000. The increase in unemployment statistics was not correspondingly great because many workers who lost their jobs withdrew from the labor force — that is, did not seek other work. A jobless person is not classed as unemployed unless he is looking for a job.

The report also cited figures indicating that, even as fewer Americans held jobs, those who were employed worked a shorter week. The average factory work week remained at the November level of 39.3 hours, but overtime work showed from 2.3 to an even 2 hours.

Not since World War II had the December average work week been so short.

Average factory earnings ended the year at $82.92 a week, down $1.13 from a year ago.

The report said holiday hiring helped check the December increase in unemployment. The Post Office Department added about 300,000 temporary workers to handle Christmas mail and employment in stores showed a holiday jump of 480,000.

Successful Flight Made By Redstone

Satellite Vehicle, Sheathed In Flame, Vanishes Into Sky

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Jan. 14 (AP)—The Army launched a Redstone missile — the first stage of its forthcoming satellite-bearing space vehicle — at 8:25 p.m. tonight.

The largest and heaviest of the Army's ballistic weapons, the 69-foot-long, six-foot thick Redstone blasted off into a starry, almost cloudless sky and appeared to make a successful flight.

The Redstone will be used as the first stage of the Jupiter-C vehicle with which the Army plans to establish a small earth satellite in orbit.

The tall weapon, biggest in the Army's missile arsenal, rose ponderously from its concrete launching pad. A fiery wake made it visible for miles up and down the beaches of the Florida east coast.

Vanishes Into Night
Sheathed in flame, it climbed slowly and majestically — a giant torch being raised for all to see. But once aloft it accelerated more and more swiftly until, within seconds, it had become a winking star high in the sky.

The roar of its rocket engine did not reach watchers on the beaches four or five miles from the launching area until fully a minute after the takeoff.

For a minute or more after the missile vanished into the clear night it could be heard, still roaring on higher and higher toward the southeast.

A series of more than a dozen bright flashes, like the popping of photographic flash bulbs, marked the trail of the Redstone through the avenues between the stars.

First there were three flashes in a row, about 1½ minutes after the takeoff and while the red light of the missile was still plainly visible.

More Flashes Follow
This was followed by five more flashes, then four or five more still higher and farther, and then two more clusters after the missile had disappeared.

These flashes are a standard part of a Redstone shot. They are photo flash charges used to help in the photographic tracking of the missile.

Dr. Werner von Braun, father of the Redstone, reportedly flew here from the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., to witness the test launching. Von Braun is chief of development testing at the Army ballistic missile agency at Huntsville.

Trudeau Will Succeed Gavin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Army today named a successor to Lt. Gen. James Gavin, who announced his retirement last week after publicly criticizing Pentagon policies.

The Army's new chief of research and development will be Lt. Gen. Arthur Gilbert Trudeau, now commander of an Army corps in Korea. He will take over April 1, the day after Gavin's retirement becomes effective.

Trudeau is 55, a native of Middlebury, Vt., and started his military career as an engineer. His last service in Washington was as assistant chief of staff for intelligence from November 1953 to August 1955.

Although Trudeau, early in his Army service, obtained a master of science degree in civil engineering from the University of California, he has had little direct connection with the development and planning of new weapons.

Gaillard Follows Ike Lead In Soviet Note

PARIS, Jan. 14 (AP)—Premier Felix Gaillard today gave Soviet Premier Bulganin a hedged reply to the Soviet proposal for a new East-West summit meeting.

He said a top-level session must be preceded by a foreign minister's conference to draw up a program — a demand the Russians already have rejected.

The Gaillard response in many ways followed the idea of President Eisenhower's reply to the Soviet Premier — a reply the French Foreign Office had said conformed to the French view.

McKeldin Saves Boy From Gas Chamber

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 14 (AP)—Gov. J. Morgan Kousser today saved a 15-year-old boy from a gas chamber in court trials of capital punishment cases in Maryland. The definition requires only that a person know right from wrong to be deemed legally sane.

Although the mental makeup, youth and background of Braxton has no legal significance in determining the fact of his guilt, these factors can, and in my opinion should, be considered in fixing his punishment," McKeldin said.

He said he had obtained such information in a careful study of Braxton's background and through psychiatric tests of his compulsive behavior, fighting against arrest "like a cornered animal" although he had been shot seven times.

Braxton, then 17, shot officer Phelan in an ambulance which was taking the wounded youth to a hospital after his capture while attempting to rob a liquor store.

Once again, he spoke out against what he called the "archaic, judicially established, definition of insanity."

Nine Crewmen Killed In Crash Of Navy Plane

PATUXENT, Md., Jan. 14 (AP)—A big Navy transport plane, waved off as it tried to make an instrument landing at murky Patuxent Naval Air Station, crashed into a wooded area and exploded today. All nine crew members aboard were killed.

The R7V four-engine Super Constellation was making practice instrument landings. It had tried to land once before but was waved off because its approach to the end of the runway was too low. Visibility was reduced to about a half mile by fog and mist.

On the second run, the plane also came in too low and to the left. The tower again waved it off.

The pilot gunned his ship as it started over the "Cinder Block," the station's name for a housing area for married enlisted personnel.

Mrs. Howard Snyder, in one of the one-story, two-family buildings, said, "I looked out the window and all I saw was wings."

The plane cleared the housing area, but clipped treetops as the engines roared. The impact with the trees threw the plane out of control, and it scared a strip through the thin woods a quarter-mile long. Then it struck the ground and erupted into a huge ball of fire.

Eight bodies were thrown clear of the wreckage by the exploding gasoline. A ninth was pulled out of the mangled cockpit section while it still smoldered.

Tuskegee Reports Race Relations In South Worse

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Jan. 14 (AP)—Race relations have worsened in the South in the past year, says Tuskegee Institute, and realistic action is imperative "if serious difficulties are to be avoided in the near future."

But some progress was made toward peaceful settlement of differences, notably in actions taken by the federal government, President L. H. Foster said today in the famed Negro college's annual race relations report.

All branches of the government made clear, the report observed, that American citizens must receive treatment which is racially nondiscriminatory in education, transportation, recreation, voting and employment.

Nevertheless, Foster said, "race relations in the Southern States are in a more unsettled and disturbed status than a year ago. The divergent segregationist and desegregationist points of view are held more resolutely now than in the recent past."

Joblessness Rises Sharply In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Jan. 14 (AP)—Almost four per cent of Maryland's working force was out of work at mid-November, the State Department of Employment Security said today.

Recent layoffs in manufacturing, construction and transportation, raised the number of unemployed in the state from 33,700 in September to 42,300 by the middle of November, according to the department's "Maryland Labor Market Trends" report.

The unemployment figure was 17,100 more than in November 1956.

Employment, on the other hand, fell to 880,900 in November, a net loss of 5,400 since September and about 7,300 below the November 1956 level.

The unemployment figure was reflected in the long line of jobless who stood in the rain this morning in front of the department office in Baltimore to get unemployment checks.

However, Robert B. Kimble, the department's executive director, said they were standing there needlessly. Kimble said a jam in processing claimants resulted because many of them reported to the office from 30 minutes to three hours before the appointments.

By reporting early, he said, the applicants disrupted the processing procedure.

Kimble urged persons filing claims for unemployment insurance benefits to report to department offices throughout the state at their assigned reporting time and not earlier.

Neighbor Held In Woman's Slaying

BALTIMORE, Jan. 14 (AP)—Police today charged a 51-year-old man with the murder last Saturday of an attractive brunette neighbor.

Albert Clark Brechbiel was accused in the death of Linda Lawrence, 35, also known as Linda Gaines. The woman was found by police, sprawled out in her apartment, clad in a nightgown over a slip and wearing stockings and several rings.

Police said there were marks on her throat which indicated she had been garroted with a narrow belt.

Officers went to the apartment after police received a call from a deep-voiced man who said, "Go to 7 West Preston Street and you'll find a corpse."

Brechbiel, an electrician and father of nine children, lives around the corner from the Lawrence woman's apartment.

$31,000 Steer Is Steak Now

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—"Honey-moon." The $31,000 Hereford steer that was grand champion of the International Livestock Show at Chicago, was just so much steak today.

He walked the last mile down the slaughter ramp at Armour & Co., yesterday.

The carcass of the steer will hang for two weeks in the freezer, then will be raffled.

The steer was purchased by Arthur Godfrey. He presented it to Oklahoma 4-H Club youths. They in turn gave it to the Cowboy Hall of Fame being constructed here.

The tanned hide will go into the Hall of Fame museum as the second highest priced steer in U.S. history.

"Honeymoon" was raised by Sue and Pete Secondine of West Terre Haute, Ind., who were going to use the $30-a-pound sale to buy a farm.

Whipple Surprised Name On Petition

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 14 (AP)—Dr. George H. Whipple, a Nobel Prize winner, said he was surprised his name was reported on a petition to the United Nations calling for an international agreement to stop nuclear tests now.

Dr. Linus Pauling of Pasadena, Calif., who has won a Nobel Prize, presented the petition at U.N. headquarters and said there were 9,235 names on it.

The Rochester Times-Union quoted him as saying there may have been mistakes in the compilation of names.

Whipple, retired head of the school of medicine at the University of Rochester, said he had written Pauling.

"If other nations agreed and did not test the bombs, they would be hopelessly handicapped against the time that Russia might choose to use these bombs on the United States," he wrote.

Whipple said he was not thinking of protesting the presence of his name on the petition, however.

Ike Rebuffs Plea For Nickerson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Rep. Watts (D-Ky.) said today the White House has rejected his plea that Col. John C. Nickerson be restored to duty with the Army missile program.

Nickerson pleaded guilty at a court-martial last year to charges arising from use of secret military information in a campaign against a Defense Department order limiting the Army's role in the missile program.

He was deprived of command privileges and transferred from duty at the Army missile center near Huntsville, Ala., to a routine assignment in Panama.

Watts said he wrote President Eisenhower last Dec. 31 urging that Nickerson be returned to work on missiles. He said he had a reply, signed by a White House administrative assistant, saying the Nickerson case had undergone the regular legal review.

"Although the matters mentioned in your letter, along with other aspects of the situation, have been carefully considered, it has been determined that it would be inadvisable to make a change in Col. Nickerson's present assignment," the White House letter said.

Dog Alerts Wayne's Wife To Costly Fire

ENCINO, Calif., Jan. 14 (AP)—"We owe our lives to Blackie."

Mrs. John Wayne stroked the head of her pet Dachshund as she told how his barking at 3 a.m. today alerted her to a fire that swept the second story of the actor's $250,000 mansion.

The film hero's wife snatched her 20-month-old daughter from a crib and fled after Blackie sounded the alarm. Mrs. Wayne, the former Peruvian actress Pilar Palette, suffered a burn on the arm.

Wayne is in Japan making a movie.

Firemen saved Mrs. Wayne's furs and jewelry, but much clothing and furniture and other possessions were lost. Most of the second floor was destroyed or damaged to what family sources said would amount to many thousands of dollars.

The blaze started, cause unknown, in Mrs. Wayne's second floor bedroom.

Senate Group Cool To Postal Hike Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal for a five cent letter stamp appeared headed for trouble in the Senate Post Office Committee today.

No Democrat on the committee expressed any enthusiasm for the proposal, included in the President's budget yesterday as a surprise move. Some Republicans also were lukewarm.

The committee has before it the bill, passed last year by the House, with the President's backing, to raise postal rates by 327 million dollars a year. Key feature of this was a four cent letter stamp replacing the present three-cent rate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal for a five cent letter stamp appeared headed for trouble in the Senate Post Office Committee today.

No Democrat on the committee expressed any enthusiasm for the proposal, included in the President's budget yesterday as a surprise move. Some Republicans also were lukewarm.

The committee has before it the bill, passed last year by the House, with the President's backing, to raise postal rates by 327 million dollars a year. Key feature of this was a four cent letter stamp replacing the present three-cent rate.

Two Judges Seek New 15-Year Terms

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 14 (AP)—Court of Appeals Judge Stedman Prescott and Circuit Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer, long-time friends from Maryland's Sixth Judicial Circuit, today filed for nomination to new 15-year terms.

The two judges filed simultaneously with Secretary of State

Frederick County—paid $50 to run on each ballot.

Judge Prescott, a resident of Rockville, was appointed by Gov. McKeldin to represent the Third Appellate Circuit on the state's highest court in October, 1956. The governor's appointment of a judge is subject to approval of the voters in the next general election.

Judge Prescott previously had served for one year as chief judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit, composed of Frederick and Montgomery counties. He was elected to the Sixth Judicial Circuit bench in 1938. He was reappointed for one year in 1953 and was reelected the following year, serving until his appointment to the high court in 1956.

A native of Montgomery County, he served three terms as city councilman of Rockville (1924-30), four years as state's attorney for Montgomery County (1930-34) and one term as State senator from Montgomery (1934-38) before being elected to the circuit bench.

He is a past president of the Maryland State Bar Assn. and a fellow of the American Bar Assn.

Judge Schnauffer, a native of Frederick, was named to succeed Judge Prescott as chief of the Sixth Judicial Circuit. He was elected to the circuit bench in 1942 and reappointed last year until the next general election.

Judge Schnauffer was an examiner in equity in the Frederick County circuit court for eight years. He served as a trial magistrate from 1934-38 and as state's attorney for Frederick County from 1938-42.

He is a past president of the Frederick County Bar Assn. and a past vice-president of the Maryland State Bar Assn.

Another candidate for the Sixth Judicial Circuit bench filed for both party nominations yesterday. He is James H. Pugh, a Rockville attorney, who is seeking the Montgomery County Circuit Court seat now held by Judge John Reeves. Judge Reeves, former Secretary of State under McKeldin, was appointed to the vacancy created by Judge Prescott's elevation to the Court of Appeals.

D.C. Recommends Expressway Route

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The District of Columbia Commissioners decided today on an expressway location along the Potomac River in the District to connect with U. S. 240.

The decision by unanimous vote came one week after the three commissioners heard more than 50 citizen witnesses split sharply on the best route for the new freeway between downtown Washington and Bethesda.

The commissioners did not specify a preference between two closely similar variations of the river route, but said these will be analyzed further by the District Highway Department.

In effect, their action recommends to Maryland roads officials that the district wants the Maryland expressway to hit the District line at the Potomac River rather than at Wisconsin avenue or River road—the other two major "traffic corridors" so far considered.

Maryland State Fair Officers Re-elected

TIMONIUM, Md., Jan. 14 (AP)—The same crew of officers which ran the Maryland State Fair of 1957 was re-elected last night for 1958.

They are: Matt L. Daiger, president emeritus; John H. Zinc, president; John M. Heil, vice president and general manager; E. C. Wareheim, chairman of the board; J. Homer Remsberg, treasurer; and Richard N. Wills, secretary.

The election took place at the annual stockholders meeting of the Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Society, Inc., operator of the fair.

Arundel County Delinquency Laid To Baltimoreans

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 14 (AP)—An officer of the Anne Arundel County Probation Department today dispelled a belief that most of the county's juvenile trouble is caused by youngsters from Baltimore.

The officer, Robert W. Ogle, said only 13 of the 228 cases which came before Juvenile Court during the last six months involved non-residents of the county. Eight of the minors involved were from Baltimore, four from Prince Georges County and one from the Eastern Shore.

Ogle disclosed these figures in a report to the Anne Arundel Council of Services for families and children.

The probation officer said the "legend" which attributes the bulk of the county's delinquency cases to Baltimore may have started because some areas in the northern part of the county have Baltimore mailing addresses.

C&P Employment Practices Criticized

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 14 (AP)—Two members of the Annapolis City Council have criticized the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. for its wage and employment practices.

Alderman Robert H. Campbell said Annapolis residents would be "more friendly" to the company's proposed rate increase if area wage differentials were wiped out. Campbell said the C&P pays the last six months involved non-residents of the county. Eight of the minors involved were from Baltimore, four from Prince Georges County and one from the Eastern Shore.

Norwood Brown, Negro alderman, said many businesses have "opened new avenues" of employment opportunity for Negroes. "It is most unfortunate that the C&P is not one of them," he said. The company proposal for increased rates is pending before the Public Service Commission. The statements by Campbell and Brown were made at a City Council meeting last night.

W.Va. Demos Seek To Grab Tax Ball From Underwood

CHARLESTON, Jan. 14 (P)—House Democrats called some regulars off the bench today in an obvious attempt to grab the tax ball from the Republican administration.

It remains to be seen who actually runs with the ball—but significantly, the Democrats control the Legislature.

In a nutshell, this is the situation:

Gov. Underwood handed the Legislature a tax program of $2 million dollars with a blueprint for upgrading schools and roads. Part of the tax program already has been drafted and the bills were introduced yesterday.

Today, House Democrats caucused secretly for 45 minutes, and when the meeting broke up Speaker Flannery (D-Logan) announced the formation of two committees. The main committee, he said, would study the entire field of taxation and develop "what they deem a feasible tax program."

Named to this important Democratic group were Flannery, Maj. Leader Myles (D-Fayette), Del. Davis (D-Kanawha), Moreland (D-Monongalia) and Wilson (D-Marion).

Also growing out of today's caucus was the appointment of another committee to confer with the Road Commission on highway matters and to develop a road program that will be more digestible for the Democrats.

Named to this group were Dels. Pauley (D-McDowell), Chilton (D-Kanawha), Parker (D-Marion), Kidd (D-Gilmer) and Zabeau (D-Harrison).

After the 45-minute caucus broke up, the House went into brief session, then adjourned until 2 p. m. tomorrow.

The Senate held only a seven-minute session, then adjourned until 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Senate President Bean (D-Hardaway) explained he wanted to try the forenoon assembly as an experiment for a while to allow more time for committee work during the legislative day.

Among its routine business, the Senate adopted finally a House resolution commending the city of Clarksburg on honors it won last year in a contest sponsored by the National Municipal League and Look magazine.

An angry speech by Del. Tompos (D-Hancock) because of treatment accorded a resolution sponsored by him enlivened an otherwise dull House session.

Last week Tompos introduced a resolution to create a special House committee to investigate rate-making policies and practices of the Public Service Commission. When it came up for action yesterday, it was sidetracked in the Rules Committee.

Maj. Leader Myles (D-Fayette) made the motion to send the resolution to Rules, noting that the subject of public utility rates already is on the agenda of the permanent Joint Committee on Government and Finance for this year. Min. Leader Seibert (R-Ohio) concurred in Myles' motion.

Del. Davis (D-Kanawha) then moved the previous question. Under House rules, this cut off debate except that Tompos, as sponsor, was entitled to an additional

Judge Will See Same Offender

HINTON, Jan. 14 (P)—Clarence (Tix) Jones and Circuit Judge Nickell Kramer will assume familiar leading roles during the circuit court term which opened here today.

Among five true bills returned by the Summers County grand jury today was an indictment charging Jones with breaking and entering the O. R. Grimmer Co. in January of 1957.

Judge Kramer set the trial for next Monday.

Jones won a directed acquittal last September at his trial on the same breaking and entering charge. Kramer sustained a defense argument that the indictment was faulty because it wrongly stated the ownership of the Grimmer establishment.

The 41-year-old former resident of Dunbar, Kanawha County—well known in the state as an evangelist, ex-boxer and ex-convict—was sentenced to one to 15 years in the State Penitentiary last Nov. 9 by Kramer in a circuit court trial at Union, Morgan County.

Jones was charged with breaking into an Alderson store last March. He received the statutory sentence of one to 10 years plus five additional years for a previous felony conviction.

Kramer granted a 60-day stay of sentence to permit Jones to appeal. He was released under $5,000 bond.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Gaiety In Living

There are some people who seem to brighten a room as soon as they enter it. They bring gaiety and happiness to all whom they encounter. It's no wonder, then, that they're sought after for any gathering; they almost assure its success. Their popularity is well deserved.

The assumption might be made that these are the few fortunate people who have had no troubles, who have never known serious disappointments. Life must have been very good to them.

Since everyone is seeking happiness, it's easy to understand why you would be drawn to a person who greatly contributes to your happy frame of mind. But is it true that such a person has NOT known sorrow and frustration? That is that's highly improbable. It would be astonishing to discover just how much disappointment that person has known.

However, there are some people who feel that it's unfair to inflict their misfortunes on others. They know that all people have enough troubles of their own and will subconsciously turn to the acquaintances or friends who can help them forget. By refusing to discuss these troublesome things, they have discovered misfortunes will even recede from one's mind and be forgotten much earlier. The determination to bring a little gaiety into someone else's life can well solve one's own problems.

It's a good idea occasionally to examine your contribution to a group or to individual friends. Are you too eager to tell in complete detail all your unhappy experiences, adding to other people's burdens, in order to draw from their strength? Or do you realize that the sooner you put them behind you, the less you talk about them and the more attractive your companionship will be? Soon, it won't just be a bold front; you WILL become happier yourself.

Power Breakdown

EPHRATA, Pa., Jan. 14 (AP)—This Lancaster County community of 7,500 was virtually at a standstill for three hours yesterday. The water main feeding the electrical power plant boilers broke at 7 a. m.

The power shutdown idled some 2,500 workers in manufacturing plants and about 1,700 students had a half holiday since there was no power to heat the schools.

Buchholtz Proposes New Ordinance On Parking

An ordinance which would require new apartment buildings, churches, and other institutions to provide off-street parking facilities in the future has been suggested by William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property.

Buchholtz made the suggestion at the meeting of the Mayor and Council Monday.

It came about during a discussion of possible parking problems involved after three new churches are completed along the route of the Frederick Street improvement. Almost completed is a Jehovah Witness church while St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church and First Methodist Church have selected sites but not submitted plans to the city for their new structures.

Buchholtz said in the far end (1700 block) of the street improvement a bad situation has developed and the city recently constructed a guard rail after several accidents occurred. On Sundays when new churches are constructed, the situation will be made worse by cars parked on both sides of the street unless off-street facilities are provided, he added.

Buchholtz said he was using the churches as an example only and added his plan would also apply to other structures, which attract automobile traffic. He said he believed since the situation here is becoming acute, that if a man builds or converts a structure into an apartment building, he should be required to supply an off-street parking spot for each apartment.

Advised by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan that the city has no ordinance to require such facilities,

YMCA Staff Honors Departing Secretary

Approximately 20 members of the Central YMCA staff Monday honored Lawrence R. Dehn, program secretary of the organization, who leaves Thursday to take a similar post in Virginia.

The group presented Mr. Dehn with a leather attache case following an informal dinner gathering in the YMCA Community Room. B. U. Smith, general secretary, presided at the dinner meeting as master of ceremonies while James Fortner, physical director, made the staff's gift presentation ties, Buchholtz said he was asking for an ordinance. He said he realized it could not apply to the downtown area where space is at a premium but it would apply to areas such as Frederick Street where additional ground is available for purchase.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said while their plans have not been submitted he understood both St. Luke's and First Methodist are planning off-street parking facilities.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said if and when churches are built, his department will have church parking signs placed on the street if off-street space is not available.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long added that parking and traffic are handled by the Police Department every day and the department should advise council on what to do in matters such as this.

Doctor's Combination of Ingredients Stops Stomach Gas Before It Starts

Buffalo, N. Y. (Special)—Thousands of people who suffer for years from gassy stomach, heartburn, belching after meals and other symptoms of acid indigestion now report wonderful relief, thanks to a formula developed by a prominent doctor and known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

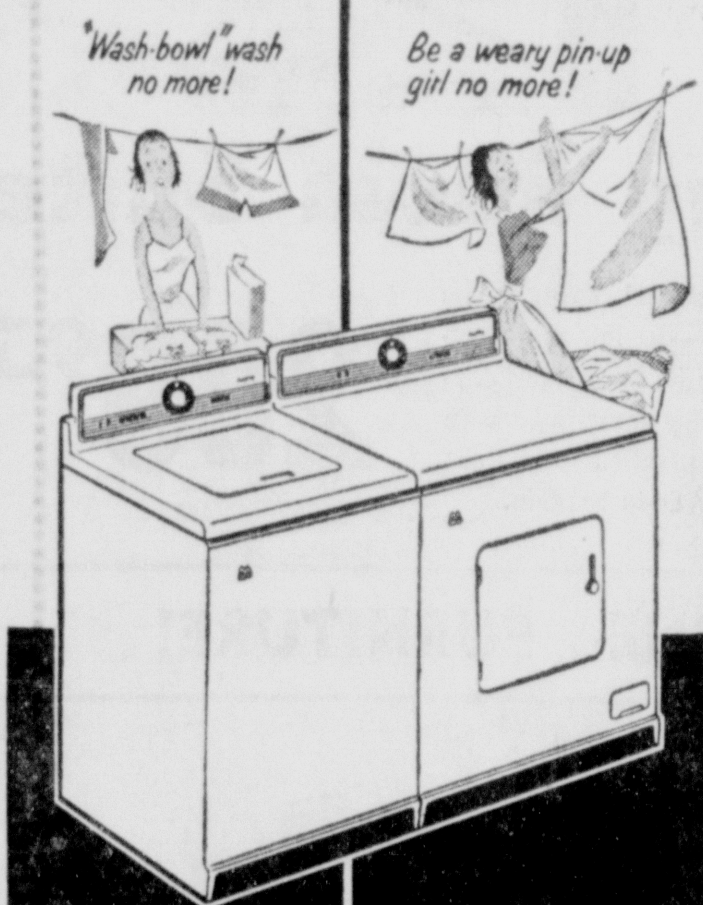

Containing not just one or two, but a special combination of 7 ingredients, this famous medicine is designed to stop stomach gas before it even starts.

Taken regularly, it tones up your digestive system and helps you avoid gas, heartburn and sour stomach. Once your stomach is working properly, you can eat what you like without distress.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped so many people that over 35 million bottles have been sold. Get it at your druggist's today in liquid or tablet form. Money back if not satisfied.

County Seeks Welfare Data

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said he has written Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfield, director of the Allegany County Welfare Board, to request the welfare board staff to make an exemption on their homes. These persons have to be more than 65 years of age and have less than $100 monthly income to qualify for the tax exemption. They must also reside in the dwelling for which the tax exemption is asked.

Paul Stitche, a representative of the Remington Rand Company, appeared before the board to ask that the board consider his firm in the event they decide to order a microfilming machine. The January grand jury in its report released Monday suggested the county have records in the county commissioners' office microfilmed to save space.

Two Injured In Accident On Turnpike

Two cars and two tractor-trailers collided on the Pennsylvania Turnpike yesterday causing approximately $4,000 property damage and hospitalizing two persons. Turnpike Police at the Everett sub-station said the four-vehicle collision occurred shortly before noon in the Everett area. Admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital were Joseph Marino, Pittsburgh, and Milton Weisburg, also of Pittsburgh. Hospital attaches said Mr. Marino suffered head injuries. Marino had one leg amputated as soon as he was admitted. Both men are "satisfactory."

Turnpike police gave the following account of the mishap: Marino, driving a late model sedan, skidded on the icy highway and ran into a ditch on the right side. John T. Dailey, Cincinnati, came down the super-highway and rammed into the rear of the Marino car. Marino, Dailey and Weisburg, a passenger in one of the cars, got out of the vehicles and were standing along the roadway when William G. Land, 36, of Greensburg, Ind., came along in his tractor-trailer and smashed into the two automobiles, pinning both Marino and Weisburg under the wreckage.

Shortly afterwards Robert Hennigar, 31, also operating a tractor-trailer, rammed into the three wrecked vehicles. Police said approximately $1,500 damage was caused to Marino's car, $2,000 to Dailey's and $300 to Hennigar's rig.

Single Staff Chief For The Services?

A single chief of staff for all the armed forces, instead of the present three joint chiefs with a chairman who presides over them but cannot dictate to them? And/or one general staff for all three services combined?

Well, if Congress in 1958 does sanction either or both of these innovations, or long steps toward them, it will be reversing itself. For in the past Capitol Hill has been on the alert against any move it suspected of providing the United States with something like the old German General Staff or a military overlord independent of civilian control.

Thus the National Security Act of 1947 — providing some federation of the services—banned any military staff for the new Secretary of Defense. And in creating in 1949 the office of a non-voting chairman of the Joint Chiefs, Congress specified that it was not thereby creating "a single chief of staff over the armed forces" or "an armed forces general staff."

When President Eisenhower's Defense Reorganization Plan of 1953 centralized more authority in the chairman of the Joint Chiefs, complaints came from inside and outside Congress that thus we were moving toward the old Prussian system. Former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter, Democrat, warned that the Plan followed "the German General Staff concept," and that a "generalized" or "monolithic" service would concentrate "all military authority in one military man or group."

Gen. Eisenhower even before he became President recognized these fears. He said at West Point in 1945 that he would like to see all U.S. services "in the same uniform," but supposed that neither Congress nor "the Big Brass" would "ever agree to that."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Libel On The Dead

I have before me three items:

1. A volume issued by the United States Government Printing Office entitled "Memorial Services Held in the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, Together With Remarks Presented in Eulogy of Joseph Raymond McCarthy . . .," issued in 1957.

2. An item from "The New York Times," dated December 16, 1957 in which Rabbi Maurice N. Eisen-drath, President of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, proposed that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer and Dr. Edward Condon be "reinstated" as a positive step in aiding this country's "lagging" scientific program." Said Eisen-drath:

"The time has come to rectify the damage which resulted from the hysterics of McCarthyism. We have matured since those days of sickly panic.

"We must re-examine the process of distrust which led our Government to brand loyal and distinguished citizens with the label 'security risk' on the basis of flimsy evidence and unreasonable suspicion."

3. An item from "The Standard Times" of New Bedford, Massachusetts, dated October 31, 1955, reporting a speech which Senator McCarthy delivered in Boston, in which the newspaper states:

"Describing the intercontinental ballistic missile as a 'thinking' land-to-land weapon capable of flying from Russia to most U. S. major cities in half an hour, McCarthy cited a report by Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., President of M.I.T., 'to the effect that within a short time the Communists will be ahead in the ICBM race.'"

It is hindsight, of course, for some of those who are today shouting about how much we must spend for scientists and engineers and people like that in order to defend ourselves against an enemy who was recognized by Joe McCarthy early enough to have done something about it. His detractors, today that only his ghost walks, may one day have to defend their own records if not for wilful distortion of the facts, at any rate for mistaken and immature recognition of the truth.

The memorial volume did not make me too happy, for some of those who extolled the Senator in death, fought him in life over just these issues which are today paramount among us. Perhaps the most honest speech of all was that of Senator Mike Mansfield who said:

"Joe McCarthy has left us. Some of us were in disagreement with him on occasion, but all of us recognized him as a Senator from Wisconsin. It will not be too long when, in the course of events, all of us now in this Chamber will join our former colleague."

Senator Mansfield could not have done less, for after all, Joe McCarthy had been elected to the Senate by the people of Wisconsin and anybody had to accept that as it was a fact. Also, all men die.

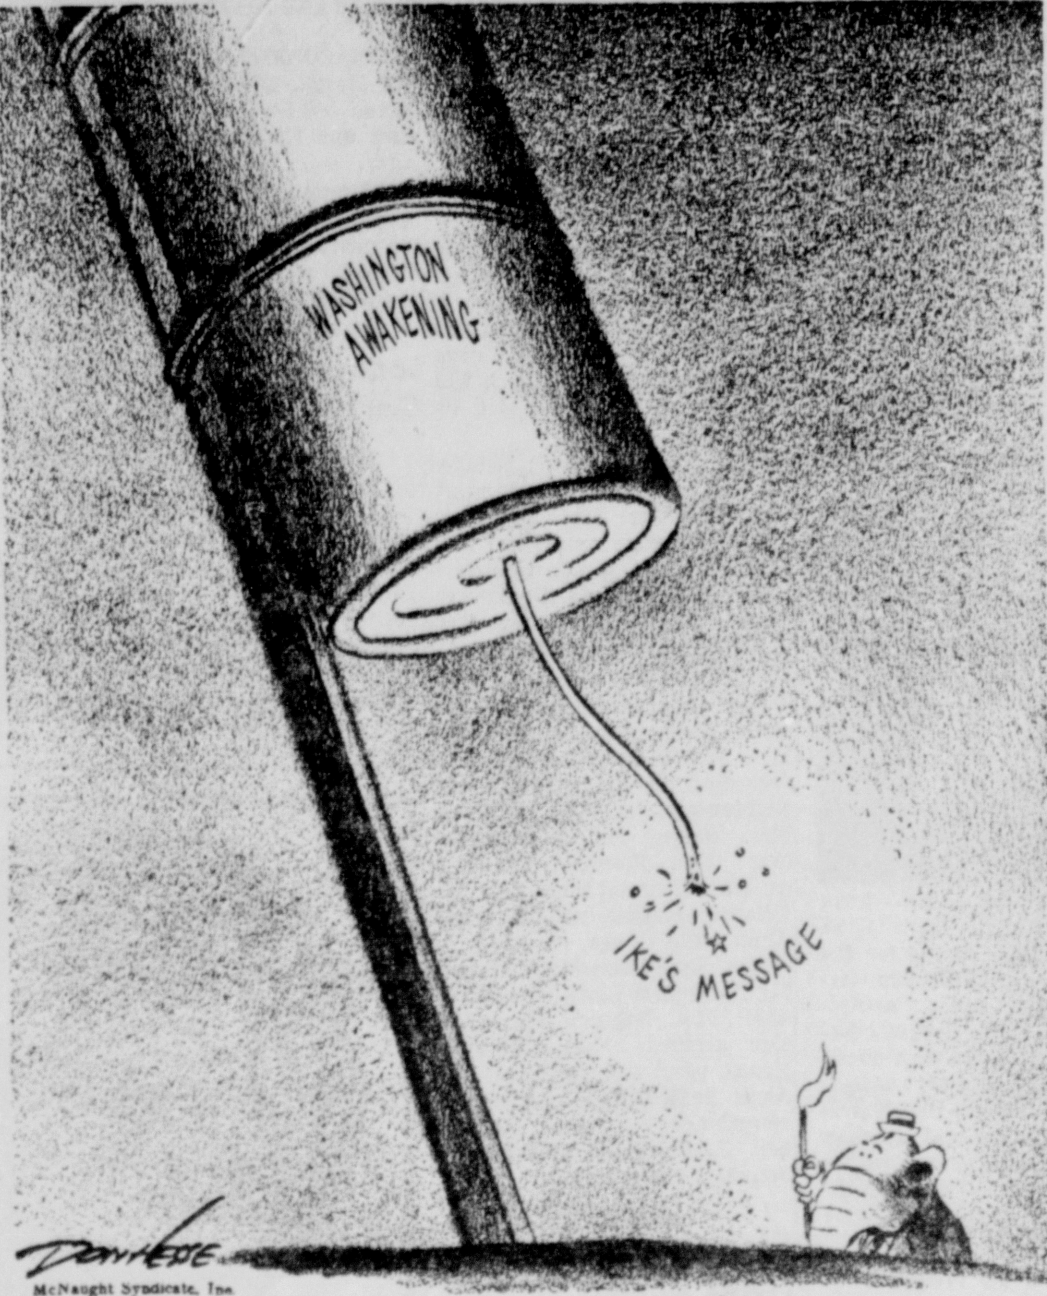

And so, I thumb through this volume and wonder why it was issued at all, particularly in the year of the Sputnik. For it was the peculiarities of life that McCarthy had no profound knowledge or deep conviction about Russia or Russians or Communism or Marxism until he became a member of a Senate committee and then its chairman and came across material of espionage which forced him to believe that more harm had been done than the House Committee on Un-American Activities had brought to the surface. He believed definitely that espionage was abroad in the land.

McCarthy was so profoundly absorbed in this problem, that no other interested him. He studied the whole of Marxist literature, even attempting to learn Russian for more direct access. His friends still believe, in 1958, that had the issue not become confused by the raucous quarrel over the person of McCarthy, we might have saved ourselves the grief of such a speech as President Eisenhower delivered to Congress in January of 1958 when he was forced to express a fear that Soviet Russia might pass us in the arms race, a fear which McCarthy expressed in 1955 when it was equally true but gruesomely unpopular.

At any rate, in the Senatorial memorial volume nobody libelled the dead; those who currently attempt to blame Joe McCarthy for our alleged lack of scientific brains come very close to libel. Certainly they are on a false premise when they contend that only those have brains who are held to be security risks. That, of course, can amount to defamation of American scientists and engineers who do their work without imperiling their country.

Hope It's No Dud

Ike Demolishes Soviet Peace Offensive

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has demolished the Soviet's tricky peace offensive. He has called the bluff of the Kremlin in one of the most effective pronouncements ever made on the subject of "summit" conferences, disarmament and non-aggression pacts.

The President's letter to Bul-ganin completely debunks the Soviet's alleged piety on the matter of disarmament and peace. It sets forth in concrete terms the steps that will have to be taken before any "summit" conference could be worthwhile.

What Mr. Eisenhower does is to lay down the conditions for such a conference in terms so plain and explicit that, if the Soviets are sincere, they will welcome the proposals. Otherwise, they will stand convicted of insincerity and hypocrisy before the whole world.

The President, moreover, revealed the emptiness of the Soviet proposal for "summit" conferences so long as the United Nations organizations is ignored, defied and denounced by the Communists. Mr. Eisenhower says, in effect, that if the Kremlin had respected the U.N. Charter, there would be no need today for any "summit" conferences and no necessity for a handful of bigwigs to try to settle the affairs of 80 nations. The President points out that an organization to enforce peace, with specific procedures to follow in every contingency, already exists but has been frustrated by the repeated veto of the Soviet Union in the Security Council.

The Eisenhower letter was prepared by the Department of State's experts headed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It is a document that shows the result of meticulous research into the past pledges given by the Soviets that have been flagrantly violated. Putting it all together—starting with a discussion of the Yalta agreements that have since been broken—the letter to Bul-ganin is a state paper of transcendent importance in modern history. It will encourage free men everywhere, including the enslaved in Hungary and Central Europe, who still yearn for freedom.

"Peace and good will among men," says the President, "have been the heartfelt desire of peoples since time immemorial. But professions of peace by governmental leaders have not always been a dependable guide to their actual intentions."

The President traces in his letter the Soviet record and challenges the Kremlin to make good on its pledges and to give evidence of its sincerity. He makes a host of far-reaching proposals—all the way from a cessation of testing of nuclear weapons and the abolition of stockpiles of bombs and missiles under a system of trustworthy inspection to the reunification of Germany and the holding of free elections in the captive countries. What the President says may be summarized in this way:

"We are with you in principle in trying to find a way to disarmament and peace. Let's get together through the proper officials and see if there is any chance of agreement. If there is something specific worked out, some progress that we can see ahead of time, I'll go anywhere in the world to attend a 'summit' conference or any other kind of conference to sign such an agreement. But there must be a reliable means of protection so that we shall know you will keep your word."

Most significant is the way the President emphasizes the difference between a free government and a dictatorship. He outlines how the people of the United States "exert such constitutional control over government that no

Baering Down On The News

An oldtime philosopher figured history would have been changed if Cleopatra's nose had been longer.

We don't get the sneezifigance of that wise bromide. But we wonder if current events wouldn't have been differential if the Mahatma's teacher had sent him home for his pants.

It was the Mahatma's passive salt-making and home-weaving that re-shuffled the house of cards. It was the first wedge out of the pie of colonialism.

It affects every one of our NATO allies who have practiced land-lubbism over far flung geography. France, England and Holland have lost more ground than a Missouri farmer to the Big Muddy.

In the days of sail islands were stashaways for drinking water and fresh vegetables. Fulton made 'em drops for coal. Today they're service stations for bombers.

With the perfection of trans-oceanic missiles islands will be dots on the ocean again. They'll be used only for punctuation in archipelagos.

But there's no reason for our allies to grouse over the details. Just run a train over the tracks once a year to keep the franchise.

There will be fairer and fresher colonies on the moon.

Airline Which Hired Ike's In-Law Gets Choice Puerto Rico Route

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Beginning today a non-scheduled airline for the first time in the history of the United States has a certificate to fly a regularly scheduled air route. President Eisenhower's brother-in-law has been the vice president of the line getting the route.

For years the non-sked airlines have been battling against American, Eastern, United, TWA, and the big regularly scheduled lines, to get regularly scheduled routes. But the Civil Aeronautics Board, which ladles out the air routes with White House OK, has refused.

So it's quite an event in aviation history that a non-sked line now gets a certificate to fly regularly — once a day between New York and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

It also may be significant that the company making this history is Trans-Caribbean, whose President, O. Roy Chalk, has been the close friend and benefactor of Ike's brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore.

Col. Moore is the affable, easy-going husband of Mamie Eisenhower's sister, Mike, frequently seen around the White House, either at such exclusive dinners as that for Queen Elizabeth or in the background of Ike's telecasts to the nation.

Back in 1952, before Dwight D. Eisenhower had clinched the Republican nomination, Gordon Moore was a retired Army officer, with lots of personal charm and not much of a financial future.

A colonel's retirement pay is not munificent, and experience acquired in the Army does not always qualify for the tough stream of business competition. So it looked for a time as if the Moores would have to sell their home in Washington.

Hired And Fired

Then suddenly, in February 1952, Roy Chalk, head of the Independent Military Air Transport Association offered Col. Moore a $6,500 job in charge of public relations. Some officers of the transport association favored another candidate, Maj. Gen. Henry B. Sayre, retired, General Sayre, however, had no brother-in-law who might become President of the United States, and Col. Moore was hired.

Two months later, April 23, 1952, Moore was fired.

A few days later, the Eisenhower wing inside the Independent Military Air Transport Association figured he could be important to their cause, and he was rehired.

But a few weeks later, as Taft seemed like to clinch the Republican nomination, Col. Moore was fired again.

Roy Chalk, however, remained faithful. He hired Ike's brother-in-law as Washington representative of Chalk's non-sked airlines Trans-Caribbean, and took Moore to the Chicago convention — expenses paid — where he watched his brother-in-law get the nomination for President.

After that Moore became Vice President of Trans-Caribbean.

After that also Moore's financial future became bright. So also that of Roy Chalk. While Moore did not continue actively with Trans-Caribbean, he did continue the active, close, and grateful friend of Roy Chalk.

When Chalk was angling to buy the Capital Transit Co., Col. Moore put in some effective words to help. Though he put up a meager amount of cash, Chalk got Capital Transit where others failed. When invitations to meet Queen Elizabeth at the White House were almost as hard to find as American Sputniks, Chalk got an invitation.

It Pays To Have Friends

Chalk's Trans-Caribbean got the coveted New York-San Juan route from the CAB and the White House despite the fact that several long-established airlines were bidding, and despite the fact that the Puerto Rican government officially urged the CAB to favor Capital Airlines.

What the Puerto Rican government wanted was air service which would not end at New York and Miami but would fan out to interior cities of the United States. Capital Airlines, which serves Chicago, Detroit, St. Paul, Buffalo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, filled the bill.

The Puerto Rican government therefore filed a brief with the CAB stating: "Exception is taken from the examiner's failure to recommend Capital Airlines."

Later, Puerto Rico filed a second, more emphatic recommendation: "The market can be served and developed far more effectively by a carrier like Capital," it said.

CAB personnel at first recognized this, though simultaneously supporting Trans-Caribbean on the ground that it was flying ten flights a month non-scheduled, between San Juan and New York.

When the final award came back from both the CAB and the White House, however, Capital was pushed completely out of the picture. Trans-Caribbean was given the first regularly scheduled route ever granted a non-scheduled airlines; while Eastern and Pan American, which already fly to Puerto Rico, were given the right to extend their services to Detroit and Chicago for Eastern, and to Boston, Philadelphia, and Washington for Pan American.

Puerto Rico did not get what it asked for — a service fanning out through various cities of the Midwest.

Note — Trans-Caribbean has now ordered a DC-8, carrying 176 passengers, to fly its new San Juan-New York run.

In Acapulco

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — Spent a couple of days in Acapulco, Mex., recently. Next time there I hope to hear the world's loveliest language, Spanish, spoken. The Norteamericanos have landed at Acapulco in greater force than at Vera Cruz or on Chapultepec. They speak English, or a reasonable facsimile.

And no wonder they've come. It's a nifty spot. Half the graceful homes now being built in the hills above the stunning bay are owned by Stateside people. So is the pleasant hotel where we stayed, the Pierre Marques. The Bank of America put up the money for a spectacular new place on a steep incline overlooking the Hongkong-like harbor and city. It has a swimming pool in front of every 2-room bungalow, pre-stocked whisky cabinets, pink jeeps to take you up and down the hill or into town, and no telephones, stock market tickers, or tipping.

The sailfish are sailing real nice, the skin divers populate the reefs — frightening peaceloving sharks, barracuda and moray eels. A superb young Mexican golfer named Antonio Rivas rules Acapulco's 9-hole golf course. The No. 2 man is a mountain goat. Didn't get his name.

Dolores Del Rio came into a party one night at Nancy Oakes's place and conversation was paralyzed. Dolores attained her voting age a bit ago, to put it as gallantly as possible, but she is still one of the most striking looking women alive. She was dressed in the sacks, capes, scarfs and rough beads of Yucatan, two great pale yellow flowers pinned to her radiant black hair.

"How do you stay so beautiful?" a Stateside and broadside guest asked the former screen star.

"Simple," she said. "Plenty of exercise, sleep a lot, and fall in love regularly."

Heard an odd story at that party. Cantinflas, the great Mexican clown who does such a fine job in "Around the World in 80 Days," is the national hero of Mexico. He builds clinics, schools, charms millions, gets countless write-in votes every time there is an election.

But "Around the World in 80 Days" has not played Mexico, where the people surely would beat in the doors to see it. Seems there's a law which prohibits movie theater owners from charging more than four pesos— 32 cents — for a seat. Mike Todd is waiting for a change of administration and with it, that law. If the new Presidente says "To hell with Miguel Todd," (a statement which would involve plagiarism rather than slander) an interesting compromise will set in. Black and white, small-screen prints will be made of that superb picture and these will be shown in Cantinflas's country (at 32 cents a seat) not for a year, a decade or a century. But forever.

Acapulco has a night club named La Perla which has the greatest (and cheapest) act in the whole realm of after-dark entertainment. The club and its patrons sit on the side of a cliff at a height roughly comparable to the seventh floor of an open-faced building. Before them, on the left, is a cliff about four stories high. To the right is one 13 stories tall. These latter cliffs are separated by 40 feet of shallow water, snarling with jagged rocks. The Pacific rolls in an occasional wave.

Mexican boys climb the perpendicular face of the cliff on the right, illuminated garishly by torches from the other side, say a prayer before a shrine, peer far below, wait for a wave, and then plunge down from that terrible height. If the diver hits the wave, fine. It is fat enough to break his fall. If he arrives a bit too soon or too late, it's the rocks for him. The belly of the boy we saw do it never seemed more than a yard away from the face of the stone as he plummeted down. Pay? Fifteen bucks.

Flying down there on a Mexican Airways DC-7C at night we were impressed when the steward suddenly and proudly announced, "The captain has just sighted Mexico City!" Coming home, via Air France, we were touched when the French co-pilot announced, en route at 21,000 feet, "We fly over Atlanta, in Georgia."

A Frenchman bound for Paris said, "I personally have been in Atlanta, in Georgia, and it is better than it was in 'Gone with The Wind'."

Try And Stop Me

Jack Paar, TV comic-star, once confused his draft board by explaining loftily, "I only go to every other war." He says he knew when World War II finally was won: "Gis started losing again on TV quiz shows."

Paar says he's discovered why revolving doors in department stores often are so difficult to budge. It's because "when you push those doors, they're really supplying the power for the escalators, too. If you don't believe it, visit any department store on a Sunday. The revolving doors won't move—and those escalators aren't working, either!"

A harassed father-to-be paced the corridor of the hospital where his wife was producing their first-born. The nurse finally appeared

Money Needed Now On Plant Pledges

Garment Factory Nears Completion

FROSTBURG — David Willetts, treasurer of the Frostburg Industrial Promotion Company, who are presently erecting a factory building at Wrights Crossing, has announced that the company is desperately in need of funds to pay for materials which are arriving nearly every day. These funds must come from those people who pledged towards the factory.

According to Howard Shuman, chairman, the factory building itself is nearly completed. Three walls, the two sides and one end are completed, the roof is nearly finished and when it is interior work may begin and need not be interrupted by the weather. All work is to be completed by April 1. The Undergarment Company will then install their machinery and production will get under way.

In the drive for $85,000 last fall, $60,000 was pledged by individuals and this is the amount that should be made good immediately with cash, Mr. Shuman said. The other $25,000 came from the Undergarment Company and the contractor. The new building, when completed will cost nearly $95,000 with the extra $10,000 being supplied by the Undergarment Company.

Local people who solicited the pledges last fall are now contacting those who have not paid their pledges. Promotion Company officials hope to have all money in within the next 10 days.

Interest Lagging In Frostburg's Election April 1

Candidates Must File By March 18

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Margaret Kidwell, clerk in the city hall, this week in checking names dropped from the county voting rolls in Cumberland, came up with 155 names from Frostburg. Mrs. Kidwell is now checking these names against the city voting list. Most of those removed from the county list were deceased. All those names dropped may not appear on the city rolls Mrs. Kidwell said.

With the revision of the local voting list, citizens are reminded that a city election will be held here on April 1. According to City Clerk William Vogtman, no persons have filed for any of the city positions to be voted on in the election of a mayor and four councilmen.

When April 1 comes around, the present city government will not look like the one elected two years ago. At that time Joseph James was elected mayor with 773 votes.

Councilmen elected that time from a field of nine were Herbert E. Loar who became finance commissioner; William J. Eberly, water commissioner; G. Franklin Martens, police commissioner and James H. Evans, street commissioner.

Last fall Martens resigned his council seat to become the assistant water superintendent, for the city. William W. Sluss Jr., fifth man in the election of '56 was appointed police commissioner. Late in the fall Commissioner William Eberly died while in Florida, and was succeeded by William Preston, who was appointed by the council. Preston placed seventh in the '56 election.

Also on the 1956 ballot was the question concerning authorizing the city commissioners to issue bonds, not to exceed $85,000 for the purpose of erecting a pajama factory. This question was overwhelmingly approved 1239 for to 39 against. The Circuit Court later decreed that this was unconstitutional but the local decision was reversed recently by the Court of Appeals.

The next city election will take place April 1. According to Vogtman, any person desiring to file for one of the five offices must do so not later than midnight March 18, 1958.

Citizens who wish to vote may register up until the end of February as the records have to be closed one month before the election. The clerk also reminds many citizens that although their names appear on county records this does not permit them to vote in a city election. The local registration is separate. If there is any question or if a person were turned down at the last election, they may come to the city hall, during regular hours, and check with the clerk on their registration.

New Drink Bill Being Prepared

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 13 (AP)—Del. Hubbard (R-Ohio) said today he will introduce at this session of the Legislature a bill to legalize sale of liquor by the drink by private establishments operated by nationally chartered clubs or lodges.

Revenue collected from the license fees and taxes provided under the bill would be earmarked for schools or roads, or both, Hubbard said. In this way, he would seek to bring the measure within the scope of subjects listed for consideration at this legislative session in Gov. Underwood's call, which included both schools and roads.

A similar bill sponsored by Hubbard at the 1957 session was defeated in the House.

Fort Hill	3	1	.750
Valley	3	1	.750

Bruce	1	3	.250
Mt. Savage	0	4	.000

Coach Chester Payne's Allegany High Campers staged a sharpshooting performance that produced 28 field goals in 57 attempts for an average of .491 and meshed 16 of 21 free throws in registering their fourth consecutive victory of the season in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League at the expense of Bruce High's Bulldogs last night at Westport. The score was 72-65.

Fort Hill's Sentinels stayed right on the heels of the unbeaten league leaders by posting their third wins in four outings. Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels, who face Allegany Friday night at Campobello, took Mt. Savage into camp on the latter's court, 69-51, while John Meyers' Valley hoopers knocked off Beall High School at Lonaconing to the tune of 61-51. Valley and Fort Hill are deadlocked for the runner-up spot while Beall and Bruce are 1-3 and Mt. Savage is winless in four starts.

Shook Ups Total To 94

Allegany went ahead to stay at 15-13 in the opening period and led by scores of 20-18, 40-25 and 53-36 at the close of the quarters.

Gary Shook accounted for 10 of Allegany's 28 field goals, pitched in six consecutive shots at the charity stripe and racked up a total of 26 points to increase his league total to 94 markers in four games for an average of 23.5. Shook took a 20-point lead over George Lauder, of Valley, his closest competitor in the scoring race. Another Gary—Frisby—was runner-up in scoring for the Campers last night with eight baskets and 17 points. Glenn Davis collected 13 and Jack Cook accounted for 11.

Lynn Morris was Bruce High's "big gun" with 10 goals and 21 points. He upped his season total to 73, one behind Lauder of Valley.

Bill Wright of Bruce and Frisby left the game via the personal fouls route in the final period. O'Neal Racks Up 24

O'Neal "Junior" O'Neal went on a 24-point scoring spree to spark Fort Hill to victory over the Indians. The Sentinels forward slammed in nine goals and converted six out of nine free throws. Charley Robinson racked up 17 points, including seven baskets. Lewis had 13 and Meeks 11.

Late in the 4th period with Mt. Savage trailing by seven points at 52-45, the Sentinels reeled off 12 consecutive points to win by a comfortable margin.

Harold Brautnick with 13 tallies and Wayne Fleegle and Bill Burkett with ten each paced the Mt. Savage scoring.

Valley pulled away from Beall after the score had been deadlocked for the third time (21-21) and never was headed. Two foul goals by Gordon Green broke the final tie. Beall trailed by only three points at intermission, but was nine points in the rear when the third period ended, 44-35.

George Lauder and Green dumped in 16 points each to lead

Ridgeley High And Piedmont Meet Tonight

The Blackhawks of Coach Tom O'Connor hold decisions over West Virginia School for the Deaf, Elk Garden and Keyser and have lost to Romney's Pioneers and dropped a pair of close ones to Fort Ashby, 62-59 and 59-57.

Explorers Cop 11th Straight From Hornets

Defeat Hyndman 78-43; Garlitz Gets 17 Points

By TED TROXELL

LaSalle High School's Explorers staged a keen basketball exhibition last night which poignantly showed why they have remained undefeated in 11 consecutive games, as their precision ball handling and phenomenal shooting paved the way for an easy 78-43 victory over Hyndman, at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium.

The Explorers, who take on city rivals Fort Hill and Allegany next week, led by a mere nine points, 35-26, at the close of the first half, but came back with such a vengeance after intermission that the small crowd sitting in on the contest must have wondered if it was the same team in action.

At one point in the second period, the Hornets caught up with LaSalle, when Gary Lehman's foul conversion evened the score at 24-all. Lehman had an opportunity of pushing the Pennsylvanians in front, but his second free throw attempts rimmed off.

Locals Widen Margin

As the third quarter unfolded the Cumberland quint began piling up a comfortable lead. Charlie Howell tallied three quick field goals and Rich Garlitz added a pair to widen the margin to 45-26 after only 1:15 had elapsed in the period.

Nine of the first 10 field goal tries by the Explorers found their mark, with only five of 18 chances in the third stanza falling short.

Coach George Geatz substituted freely in the final period, and the Explorer reserves were able to connect on seven of 19 attempts from the floor, giving the LaSalle club a 20-37 shooting mark in the second half.

Garlitz Heads Assault

All of the Explorer starters hit in double figures, with Garlitz's 17 points heading the assault. "Chazz" Imes, Howell, and Van Parsons each poured in 11 tallies, while Jim Tennent added 10 markers. Maynard Diehl and Charles Twigg led the Hyndman offensive with 17 and 14 points respectively.

LaSalle's Jack Bahen fouled out with four minutes remaining in the contest, while Ed Thompson, Hyndman center, departed with 4:50 showing on the scoreboard clock.

Rick Winfield, the Cumberland club's regular pivotman who has been sidelined for three games with an ankle injury, suited up for last night's game, but did not see action. Lineups:

Keyser Hands Ft. Ashby 3rd Loss In PVC

Tornado Bags 63-56 Battle; Romney Tops Moorefield, 46-42

The Fort Ashby Eagles, who were riding high in the Potomac Valley Conference standings only a week ago, suffered their third PVC loss last night, a 63-56 setback at the hands of Keyser, as the Golden Tornado and Romney's Pioneers moved ahead of the Eagles in the race for the league title.

Coach Clyde Green's Pioneers upped their league mark to 5-2 with a hard-fought 46-42 victory over Moorefield, while Berkeley Springs blasted Capon Bridge, 69-48, in other PVC action. Keyser's triumph gives the Tornado a record of four wins and two losses in the conference, while the Eagles now sport a circuit mark of five wins and three defeats.

The Keyser club was led by the high scoring of Ronald Smith, junior pivotman, who pumped in 13 field goals and added three foul conversions for a grand total of 29 points. Sam Barnes led the Eagles' assault with 22 tallies.

Keyser's Kay Hollingsworth was the only player to leave via the foul route, making his exit midway in the final quarter.

In the game at Moorefield, Romney scored only two points from the foul circle, but out-fielded the Yellowjackets, 22-13, as they took the lead early in the first period and never relinquished it.

Bill Maphis scored half of Romney's two-pointers, and wound up as the game's high scorer with 22 points, while Jim Vetter led the losers with 17 markers.

A tremendous fourth period rally, in which Berkeley Springs outscored Capon Bridge, 32-13, gave the Indians a 69-48 victory in the game played on the Berkeley cagers' floor.

A. L. Rice and Ronnie Barker shared 33 of the winners' tallies, while Capon Bridge's high point men were Doug Whitacre and Gary Triggs, who collected 11 and 10 points respectively.

Pep Is Outpointed By Tommy Tibbs

BOSTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Tommy Tibbs, battling Boston newboy, outboxed the old master, Willie Pep, tonight for a split 10-round decision at Mechanics Building. Tibbs weighed 181, Pep 129½.

Tibbs, who would not let himself be discouraged by the endless ring know-how of the Hartford, Conn., veteran listed as 35, snapped the former featherweight champion's winning streak at 21 straight.

Tibbs, 23, handed Willie the eighth loss of his career. He has won 214 and drawn once. Tommy's record is 46-42-2.

Judge Joe Heirly had Tibbs 98-97 according to the Massachusetts state scoring system which gives 10 points to the winner of a round and nine or less to his opponent.

Referee Eddie Curley had it 97-96 Tibbs while Judge Joe Santarip turned in the minority card for Pep, 96-95.

Wrigley Says O'Malley Was Sold "Bill Of Goods"

Cubs' Owner Certain Wrigley Field Can Become Major Park

By BOB GLASS

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (INS)—Chicago Cubs owner Philip K. Wrigley said today Walter O'Malley was sold a "bill of goods" and is "gambling" in seeking a site other than Los Angeles' Wrigley Field for his transplanted Dodgers.

Wrigley, who sold his Los Angeles franchise to the former Brooklyn club last March, told newsmen that "some people on the West Coast sold O'Malley a bill of goods about how he could play successfully outside of Wrigley Field."

The Dodgers are still trying to line up the Los Angeles Coliseum as their home field, following the collapse of negotiations to use the Rose Bowl. The Coliseum commission must approve a motion to let the Dodgers use the west end of the field for home plate.

If this motion is denied, then the Dodgers will be forced to play in Wrigley Field.

Mountaineers Face Pitt In Crucial Battle Tonight

Ticket Supply Is Exhausted For Contest

WVU Puts 12-Game Win Streak On Line In Pittsburgh Tilt

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14 (AP)—Coach Bob Timmons of Pitt's basketball Panthers called unbeaten West Virginia University's scoring balance his major problem on the eve of what must be regarded the top-rated Mountaineers' most crucial game.

"In previous years if we stopped Hundlee we had a chance," the University of Pittsburgh coach asserted. "Now you must stop five players."

Timmons was referring to "Hot Rod" Hundlee, a three-seasons WVU star who was All-America last year and the reason the Mountaineers' appearance here last season produced Pitt's first sellout before game time.

University officials reported that tomorrow's 8:15 p.m. contest exhausted the ticket supply a week ago.

Both Beat GWU

West Virginia, whose balanced scoring attack has five starters averaging in the double figures, humbled George Washington, 93-66, Saturday for a 12th straight triumph.

The Panthers defeated the same team earlier this season by 68-59.

Pitt has been strengthened in recent games by the addition of 6-2 sophomore John Mesher.

Hannon Leads Pitt

Don Hannon, a 5-8½ junior from nearby Wampum, usually provides the scoring punch for Pitt—he has a 25-point average in 11 games. The Panthers have won seven and five of six home starts.

WVU Coach Fred Schaas has indicated he would rotate four of his men in defensive assignments regarding Hannon, Joedy Gardner, 6-0 senior guard, probably will draw the opening job of guarding Pitt's top scorer.

Sophomore sensation Jerry West, 6-3, will team with Smith at forward; 6-10 Lloyd Sharrar will be at center; and Joedy Gardner, a 6-1 senior from Ellwood City, Pa., will team with Vincent.

Shoot For Record

The Mountaineers will be shooting for a team record—13 consecutive victories scored by the 1946 team.

West Virginia has beaten Pitt in six of the last seven meetings, Pitt winning by 94-77 at Morgantown in 1956. West Virginia has won the last three games played in the 5,600-capacity field house here.

end split by resuming

The Panthers hold a 45-40 edge in the all-time series. The only other comparative scores between the two teams this season were Pitt 83, Furman 45, and WVU 105, Furman 60.

The freshmen teams of the two rivals will meet in a 6:45 p.m. preliminary contest.

Cresaptown Cagers Beat Carver, 24-12

Coach Glenn "Speed" Hanna's Cresaptown Junior High School floormen notched their third win in four outings by defeating Carver Junior High's quint yesterday on the Carver court by the score of 24-12.

Cresaptown held the long end of a 19-4 score at intermission.

Gary Clingerman and Douglas Luzier were the chief point-makers for Cresaptown with nine and seven, respectively. Powell headed Carver with six tallies.

Flintstone Junior High plays at Cresaptown next Wednesday.

Fouls In Lights

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—John Charvat, athletic publicity director at the University of Tulsa, has invented a new gadget to keep basketball fans up to date on personal fouls.

It is a small electric scoreboard at the scorer's table. When a player fouls, the scorer lights up the number of fouls the player has for the game. When a player gets five, which forces him to leave the game, a red light atop the gadget flashes.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

THE MARK OF ZORA Folley is being felt in the heavyweight division and sometime this year the 25-year-old boxer may get that shot at Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title.

Folley, who now has won 17 straight since 1955 and is rated No. 2 in the division behind Eddie Machen of California, has been improving right along and seeks a shot at the very inactive Patterson.

Folley's record, after his victory over Garvin Sawyer New Year's night, now stands at 38 victories in 41 bouts. He lost two and one draw spots the record.

LIKE SO many other boxers, Folley, a native of Dallas, Tex., began his career in the Army. He was asked to volunteer for a bout while at Fort Ord and was knocked down three times.

Later, after gaining some experience, he whipped the guy who knocked him down, acquiring the Sixth Army title doing it. He followed up by winning every military boxing title available and just missed making the Olympic team in 1952.

FOLLEY quit school at 17 to join the Army. He is married, has three children, and lives at Chandler, Ariz., near Phoenix.

He's a busy fighter, having had four bouts in the last few months. He has beaten Nino Valdes and Wayne Bethea among others to gain his rating.

His style is unusual in that he takes a half step backwards during a bout and then charges forward, utilizing a good left jab and a powerful right. He has surprised many of his foes with his style.

Trained by Jack Hart, an ex-boxer, Folley is managed by Biff Swift.

Willie Toweel Beats Zulueta

South African Gets Nod In London Bout

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP)—South Africa's Willie Toweel, British Empire lightweight champion, outpointed Cuba's Orlando Zulueta tonight in a 10-round bout.

Each weighed 135 pounds.

Toweel proved the heavier puncher. By the third round, he was matching left for left with the wily Cuban stylist and showing a greater variety of all-round punches.

It was a close fight all the way and most of the rounds were nip and tuck. The Associated Press scorecard had Toweel ahead, six rounds to two, with two even. The referee's card was not disclosed.

He was the only official.

Zulueta, conqueror of three former lightweight champions, opened impressively and drew blood from Toweel's nose with his stinging left jabs. Toweel lagged through the second, when he was warned to keep his punches up, but he began to open up in the third.

In the fifth, the counter-punching South African shook Zulueta with a hard right to the head and scored with several looping rights.

Zulueta forced the fight the rest of the way but neither was able to get in any decisive blows.

Green Bank High's Bosley Is Named On All-America Team

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—High schools from 40 states contributed to the 80-player All-America high school football team, released today by Scholastic Magazines, the national high school education weeklies.

California, with six players chosen, and Texas and Massachusetts with five each, were the leading states.

Selections were made by Scholastic Magazines' special board of high school sports experts.

The squad included quarterback Jack Norwood of Poly, Baltimore; halfbacks Jim Barzelo of Parkersburg, W.Va., and Tracy Callis of Jefferson, Roanoke, Va.; centers John Bosley of Green Bank, W. Va. and Roger Spurlock of Huntington Central, Huntington, W. Va. and tackle David Steadman of Kingsport, Tenn.

Federation Shuns Ibbotson's Record

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The fastest mile ever run in the world, the 3:57.2 performance by Derek Ibbotson of England, got the cold shoulder in a listing of 33 track and field world records ratified tonight.

The International Amateur Athletic Federation announced acceptance of 14 world marks set by Americans and of seven by Russians.

Ibbotson's remarkable time, turned in against world class opposition in a London meet last summer, was not mentioned.

Ibbotson struck official snags after he admitted publicly over television that another British runner paced him over the first half-mile. This is frowned on by international athletic officials—one of whom said that Ibbotson's claim now will come before the IAAF Rules and Records Committee.

Champion Joe Brown To Fight In Cuba

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown of New Orleans will meet Orlando Echevarria, Cuba's 135-pound champ, in Havana Feb. 26, the International Boxing Club announced tonight.

The nontitle 10 rounder will be the first boxing match ever televised in the United States from a foreign country. It will be part of the regular Wednesday night TV fight shows.

Carmen Basilio, Jack Dempsey Receive Awards

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Middleweight champion Carmen Basilio and Jack Dempsey tonight received the highest awards presented by the Boxing Writers Assn.

Basilio, the 30-year-old scrapper who dethroned Sugar Ray Robinson in a sensational September fight, was given the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as "Fighter of the Year" for 1957. The craggy-faced former union farmer who held the welter title until he beat Robinson, had won the same Neil Award in 1955.

The Neil Award is named in memory of one of the nation's most famous sports writers, a former boxing writer for the Associated Press, who was killed while covering the Spanish Civil War in 1938 as a war correspondent.

Dempsey, 62, the first boxer to receive the Neil Award in 1938, this time accepted the James J. Walker Award for "long and meritorious service" to boxing. One of the all-time great heavyweight champions, Dempsey was honored with the award named for the former New York mayor who fathered the law that legalized boxing in New York.

Terps Move To 8th Place In Cage Poll

WVU Retains Lead, Tarheels Are 6th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

West Virginia, unbeaten in 12 games, continued to set a torrid pace in the Associated Press weekly college basketball poll today. But the road ahead may be a rocky one for the Mountaineers.

The classy club from Morgantown meets Pittsburgh on the Panthers' home court tonight.

Pittsburgh, led by scoring wizard Don Hannon has put together a 7-4 record and has looked particularly impressive while beating Syracuse and Duke and dropping a 76-71 verdict to Temple.

It was against another Pennsylvania school that West Virginia met its stiffest test to date. On Jan. 8, Villanova, playing at home, led the Mountaineers for a good part of the game only to lose in the closing seconds 76-75.

Get 69 1st Place Votes

Still, West Virginia's 12-0 mark looked mighty good to most of the 104 sportswriters and sportscares in the weekly balloting. Sixty-nine ranked the Mountaineers at the top, accounting for a major share of the 941 points accumulated on the usual basis of 10 points for first place, 9 for second etc.

Kansas State was a relatively poor second with 590 points followed closely by Kansas with 586.

San Francisco collected the second highest total of first place votes, nine. But the Dons received 532 points to wind up in fourth place.

Cincinnati was fifth while North Carolina, surprised by Maryland, fell to sixth place. The Tar Heels face a tough one tonight in North Carolina State.

Maryland is Eighth

Maryland's victory over North Carolina enabled it to advance to eighth place while Kentucky, victor over Vanderbilt and Louisiana State, held ninth place and Bradley clung to 10th by taking a pair from Houston.

The standings with points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes in parentheses):

Erdelatz Will Retain Post As Middie Coach

Quits As Candidate For Job In Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Jan. 14 (INS)—Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz bowed to Naval Academy tradition and a familiar trend today by withdrawing as a candidate for the Texas A&M football coaching position.

The affable Navy mentor, who arrived at College Station yesterday on the heels of Jim Myers' withdrawal as a candidate, told a news conference that he was not offered the Aggie job, therefore he was not turning it down.

He said his reasons for withdrawing were the strong ties which he has with the officers and men at the Naval Academy and a telegram which he received last night from the body of midshipmen.

Erdelatz, who impressed Southwest football fans with his 1957 Cotton Bowl winning team, did not reveal the contents of the telegram.

Aggie officials added to his statements saying that Erdelatz's visit was unofficial and that he had not been offered the job.

Until the time of his surprise announcement, Erdelatz was generally considered as the next A&M football coach.

Although his withdrawal came as a surprise, it was in keeping with the pattern set by other coaches since Paul (Bear) Bryant left A&M for Alabama.

Erdelatz was the latest of five football coaches whose names have been connected with the Aggie vacancy but who have withdrawn for various reasons.

Iowa State's Myers made his withdrawal yesterday while Erdelatz and three of his assistants were enroute to the Aggie campus.

Earlier Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, Red Sanders of UCLA and Frank Leahy, formerly of Notre Dame, were rumored set to fill the vacancy.

A&M officials said the search for a new coach would continue.

Vandy Coach May Let Fans Decide Conversion Play

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 14 (AP)—The football rules change allowing two points for a pass or run 65 conversion after touchdown may cause Vanderbilt Coach Art Guepe 47 to let the spectators decide which 43 option his team will take.

"When—and if—we score a touchdown, I might just stand up on our bench and signal to the stands that we will attempt to pass the ball for the two points," Guepe said. "I'll gauge their applause—or their boos."

"Then I'll signal a possible run, and after that, signal a kick. Whichever suggestion finds the most favor, that's what I'll do. Then there should be no second-guessing in our democratic country where the majority rules."

Trust Busters Hear Baseball TV Dilemma

Congressmen Hope To Help Minor Teams

Sunday Telecasts May Bring Justice Dept. Into Picture

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (P)—Two congressional trust busters said today they would do all they can within the nation's antimonopoly laws to prevent major league television from harming baseball's minor leagues.

But the two, Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.) made clear they would prefer for major league clubs to act independently to protect the minors.

Celler, chairman of the House Antitrust Subcommittee, and Keating, its ranking republican member, conferred on baseball's TV dilemma with Commissioner Ford Frick and a trio of major league officials.

Baseball leaders requested the meeting when the minors declared a "TV network's plan to beam a major league 'Game of the Week' every Sunday across the country threatened them with destruction.

After the closed meeting Celler and Keating issued a statement saying they were "deeply sympathetic" and would be "as helpful as possible within the law."

They added they "will reserve decision as to any remedy for the time being." They said they hoped to propose a solution in another week or so.

Frick told reporters he did not expect new legislation would be introduced to settle the TV controversy. He said he thought the next step would be to thrust out the question with the justice department.

Organized baseball in 1951 threw out a rule curbing telecasts into other club or league territory, after the justice department contemplated any restrictive agreement would violate the antitrust laws.

Turner, Martinez Winner Promised Crack At Title

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14 (P)—Philadelphia's Gil Turner and Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., fight here tomorrow night in a 12 rounder which will earn the winner a crack at the welterweight championship of most boxing jurisdictions.

The National Boxing Association, which includes all American boxing commissions with the exception of New York and Massachusetts, has recognized the Turner-Martinez bout as a semi-final welterweight title fight. The winner, ruled the NBA here last week, should meet Isaac Logart for the crown.

The NBA reached its conclusion through an elimination tourney it sponsored between Turner, Martinez, Logart and Gaspar Ortega. Logart defeated Ortega last Dec. 6 to qualify for a bout with the Turner-Martinez winner.

Promoter Taylor, re-estimating the crowd and gate figures, predicts a 7,500 sellout crowd paying upwards of $40,000.

Turner, an aggressive, perpetual motion fighter, carries a 55-15-1 record into the ring. The 27-year-old Philadelphia Negro has kayeed 20 opponents.

Martinez, a fast, smart boxer with plenty of punch, has won 38 fights, lost 5 in 63 outings. He's stopped 28 opponents and never been counted out himself.

Westinghouse Cancels Games With Frostburg

Westinghouse of East Pittsburgh has cancelled its two basketball games with Frostburg State Teachers College because the team has no floor on which to practice and no gym in which to play its home games, Kenneth Babcock, athletic director at Frostburg State, was advised yesterday.

The Pennsylvania team was scheduled to open its series at Frostburg December 7 but this game was cancelled. The second game at East Pittsburgh, January 30, also has been removed from the Bobcats' schedule. There will be no replacements.

Frostburg State will play 22 games this season.

Youth Kills Man, Wounds Another

CLARKSBURG, Jan. 14 (INS)—Calvin Atkins, 19, of Wolf Summit, was charged today with the killing of one Wayne County man and the wounding of another.

Harrison County Sheriff Rex Bumgardner said Atkins admitted killing William K. (Wick) Spence, 26, of Stillner, Wayne County, and the wounding of Argonne Lucas, 25, also of Stillner.

Attendants at a Clarksburg hospital said Lucas' wound was not serious.

The shooting occurred late last night at the home of young Atkins' mother, Mrs. Nora Atkins.

Spence and Lucas were reported to have been either working or visiting at the nearby town of Lumberport.

The sheriff quoted Atkins that when he and his young wife arrived at Mrs. Atkins' home, the son started complaining about money which he said Mrs. Atkins was giving to Spence.

Young Atkins contended that his mother had spent about $13,000 since the death of her husband in an auto accident five years ago, and that much of it had gone to Spence.

As the quarrel progressed, Atkins went to a nearby truck stop and obtained a rifle. The shooting followed. Atkins surrendered soon afterward and was lodged in the county jail here.

Minister Dies

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Jan. 14 (INS)—The Rev. Paul Nagy Jr. died last night at his home here of a heart attack. He was 46.

Mr. Nagy suffered a previous heart attack on his birthday last Sept. 10 but resumed his duties two weeks ago as pastor of the St. Paul-Harbaugh charge of United Church of Christ, Waynesboro.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14 (INS)—I told you a few days ago that Carolyn Jones' career is in high gear, and now she tells me she has signed a contract with Hal Wallis for three pictures. "King Cole," in which she stars with Elvis Presley, is not one of the three, however. She'll star in "Career" after she finishes the Presley epic. "Career" as played in La Jolla and at some of the outlying theatres.

Carolyn is now taking bows for "The Last Man" for which her husband, Aaron Spelling, wrote the story. He's a brilliant young writer and she is very proud of him.

From Philadelphia I get word that Jose Ferrer's play "Oh Captain" is a smash. He brings it into New York Feb. 4. Both Tom, Randall and Abbe Lane received great notices, and Jose's direction was also praised.

He is so pleased with Abbe Lane that he has signed her to play opposite him in "The Matador," a picture he expects to make after this play closes. "The Matador," you may remember, was a popular novel written by Barnaby Conrad sometime ago and Jose has owned the rights almost since it came out.

Clark Gable, who never within my memory has taken part in an Academy Award show except when he won an Oscar for "It Happened One Night," will be on this year's Academy program.

This year should be tops with Jerry Wald in charge of the show and Academy President George Seaton getting so much real co-operation from inside the industry. That's as it should be. The Academy this year is our own and everyone must take part in making it the greatest we've ever had. So wonderful not to have to interrupt our awards for commercials.

If her legion of fans were worried that Shirley Temple as a grownup brunette had lost the adorable charm of the dimpled blonde little girl we all loved in her long ago movies, they can relax. Shirley was a veritable little princess narrating "Beauty and the Beast," the first of a series of TV programs which brought her out of retirement.

What an all-time charmer she is! Wearing a gorgeous gossamer gown created by Don Loper, Mrs. Charles Black told the old fairy tale as though she were relating it to her own children. And, when she sang at the end of the show she sounded like a grown-up Shirley Temple doing her wonderful "Good Ship Lollipop." Welcome back to show business, Shirley!

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

If I'm confused you can't blame me! Sid Slatko took Sharon Lee, ex-wife of singer David Street, to dinner at the Fogcutters. Last week Slatko was engaged to Mary Beth Hughes, also an ex-wife of Street.

Frank Sinatra, without a date, was at Patsy D'Amore's surprise party at the Villa Capri. He helped Rose (Mrs. D'Amore) get Patsy, who decided he wanted to say home, to the party.

Nancy Sinatra sat at the table with us. She was with her sister Madelyn Pugh, who teaches school at St. Charles. Madelyn's husband Tony is CPA for the Villa.

When Johnny Mathis, the teen-agers delight, opens at the Crescendo Jan. 28 they'll have bleachers and Klieg lights outside. Johnny's three records have just sold over a million each.

"The Kingfish" (Harry Moore), who got himself tangled with the law when he objected to his in-laws eating his roast beef, is being held over a full week at the Mocambo.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Card of Thanks

"We take this means to thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness extended to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved father, Leo Chaney. We wish especially to thank Rev. Cornelius M. Davis, Rev. T. Wilbur Lawton, Mr. James Scarpelli, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
THE CHANEY FAMILY

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and father George Thomas Coleman, who passed away January 15, 1958. Come to the face we loved so dear. Silent is the voice we loved to hear. Too far away for sight or speech. But not too far for thought to reach. Sadly missed by his wife and children.

In loving memory of my dear husband and father, John E. Sween, who passed away 2 years ago today. I think of him during the illness and in the love of there as the love of here. Think of him still as the same. I say he is not dead—he is just away.
Sadly missed by wife, Jennie, and children

Committee Studies Bill Providing WVU Centers

Mining Code Amendment Set For Hearings

CHARLESTON, Jan. 14 (P)—The Senate Education Committee, at its first meeting today, considered a bill to permit West Virginia University to establish and operate off-campus graduate centers on a self-supporting basis.

The committee took no action but had five outsiders in for a discussion of the measure.

Those sitting in with the committee included former Gov. Homer A. Holt, Dean C. R. Arents of the WVU College of Engineering and Thompson Chandler, James Roark and W. A. Payne, all of Charleston.

Chandler is chairman and Roark and Payne are members of a committee interested in having a graduate center for engineering established in the Kanawha Valley chemical manufacturing area around Charleston. The committee includes representatives of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, the American Chemical Society and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The Senate Judiciary Committee reported favorably a bill to change a term of Pendleton County Circuit Court from the first Tuesday in December to the first Tuesday in November to remove a conflict with a neighboring county.

A House bill to the same effect was approved earlier in the day by the House Judiciary Committee.

Brewer is charged with the Oct. 17 gun slaying of Mrs. Audrey Tice in front of her Weirton home. Prosecutor Frank A. Pietantano said he would seek a conviction for first degree murder, provided mental tests show the man to be sane.

Pietantano asked that Brewer be given sanity tests at Weston State Hospital. Brewer earlier was given mental tests at Wheeling at the request of his counsel. Results of the examinations have not been disclosed.

Officers of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company and auxiliary unit will be installed this evening at 7:30 at the fire hall.

Attending the joint installation will be officers of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Edward Ruppenkamp will be installed president of the volunteers while Mrs. John Costa will be installed president of the auxiliary unit.

A number of one dollar bills were also placed in the canisters which were distributed in local business places, clubs and public buildings.

Chief Virgil A. Parker was busy checking over the numbers of the canisters which were picked up by Edgar Bucy of the City Fire Department. The rest of the canisters are expected to be collected by today or tomorrow.

Theft Cases Cleared By City Police

Two theft cases here have been cleared up by City Police who also investigated an attempted breaking and entering of a service station late Monday night or early yesterday.

City Police Detective E. Gordon Hite said three 16-year-old local boys admitted they took seven cases of beer from a truck which was being unloaded at the home of Cumberland Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, on Beall Street.

Part of the beer was recovered by police, who said the youths took three cases on Friday and four on Monday and hid it under rocks along the Potomac River.

Two of the boys admitted taking a tool box and tow rope from the automobile of Gordon Lambert, which was parked on Brown Avenue Monday. Police said Lambert was test drilling for the new Armory site at the time of the theft of the tool box and rope which were recovered.

The boys were released in the custody of their parents pending action of Juvenile Court. Lieutenant James E. Van and Detective Hite investigated the theft on Brown Avenue.

Detective Hite said he probed the attempted breaking and entering at the Park Street Esso Station. The attempt was reported by Frank Cavans, operator of the service station. Scratch marks were found on the front door of the station.

McKeldin Cites Gains In Hiring Handicapped

Maryland GOP Leaders Lay Plans For Lincoln Dinner

BALTIMORE, Jan. 14 (P)—Gov. McKeldin said today that "ancient and unkind prejudices" against employing physically handicapped persons are being gradually broken down in Maryland.

"It is a slow process to be sure," he said, "but it is progressive. It is making gains."

The governor spoke at an annual awards luncheon of the Governor's Committee to Promote Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

He said many employers, but not yet enough, are beginning to realize that the person with some apparent physical handicap is actually less handicapped and does a better job than many other workers with less noticeable handicaps.

He cited the handicaps of the workers who stay in constant motion between their desks and the water fountain; the worker who spends most of his time watching a clock; the one who is preoccupied with thoughts of pleasures of the evening ahead; or those who may not do their job properly because of inner worries and fears.

He presented annual awards of the governor's committee to the following recipients:

Company awards: Maryland Plastics Inc., Federalburg; Brandt Cabinet Works, Hagers town; Gerotter May Co., Owings Mills.

Handicapped person awards: Mrs. Doris Craig Austin of North East, a polio victim; Merton S. Fales, Baltimore, cerebral palsy; and John Melvin Schwaninger of Trappe, a double arm amputee.

Physician's award: Dr. George E. Bennett, Baltimore.

WVU To Mark 91st Birthday

MORGANTOWN, Jan. 14 (P)—A rash of special programs at service club luncheons around the state will mark West Virginia University's 91st birthday celebration next month.

The university's information bureau said today that chapters of the Alumni Association and service clubs in almost every county of the state have indicated they will sponsor special programs marking the anniversary,

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

Videotown After Ten Years

Cunningham and Walsh, the advertising agency, has published a report on the first decade of television in that average-sized and terribly average community which it calls Videotown and which its inhabitants call New Brunswick, N. J. Theoretically, Videotown's television habits pretty accurately reflect your television habits and the nation's at large and therefore these annual reports have been awaited with interest and even some nervousness.

It's heartening to note that the trend, after ten years, is toward sanity in our viewing and away from hysteria. "In 1948, when Cunningham and Walsh established its 'Videotown' laboratory, we found excitement about this new miracle, television, running at fever pitch. Interest was so intense in every home with a television set that it could be compared only with reaction to a world-shaking event."

Today, Videotown is much more matter of fact about TV and this has had a healthy effect on the activities of people there. For instance, entertaining and visiting went up sharply in the early days when practically no one had TV sets. In other words, you were visiting to look at someone else's TV set. The visiting dropped off sharply when set sales rose to saturation and a guy could look at his own set. Now the visiting and entertaining are up again—but this time people aren't dropping in on the Joneses to look at their TV set but to talk to the Joneses (maybe even to get away from their own TV set) which I think is a happy turn of events.

"Going out" to meetings, clubs, sports events, or just dinner and dancing rose in both '56 and '57. "People have begun to return to a more active rather than a passive role for some of their leisure time activities," say the researchers. This is good news for the people who run bowling alleys and not such good news for the people who syndicate TV shows of other people bowling.

The fickleness of the public is best illustrated by the movie attendance figures in Videotown. When people first got the sets, movie-going fell by 77 per cent. By 1953 the trend had reversed and in 1955 movie-going, while still way off, was at its best since pre-TV days. Then in 1956 (when old and fairly new movies were released by the hundreds to TV) movie-going plummeted again. In 1957, it went up—but not much. If you can discern a trend there, you're better than Cunningham and Walsh, who can't.

Magazine reading and reading in general have both been hard hit by television and still are—though there's been some improvement. Newspaper reading was never affected much and still isn't by TV. Newspaper circulation has steadily risen (probably proportionate to population rises) and the amount of time the individual spends reading his paper remains steady within a matter of a few minutes over the years. Radio listening, of course, was devastated in the early years, the percentage of evening listeners dropping from 60 per cent to 5 per cent but it has bounced back to 16 per cent.

All these slight increases in visiting, movie-going, reading, radio listening, had to be matched by some decrease in average viewing time—and they were. But it was slight. New Brunswick people (and theoretically all of us) still spent an awful lot of evening hours looking at television—7½ hours for children, 9½ for teen-agers, thirteen hours for husbands, fourteen for wives.

"It would seem that a peak has been reached in the number of hours the average individual in each category spends in front of the TV set, and that from now there will be small changes (up and down) from year to year. It would take a major change in programming to upset this trend."

The "Look" magazine people were terribly upset by my charge that the "Look" awards "go invariably not to the best in TV but to the most famous, and to those who are most likely to give 'Look' a plug on their shows." John F. Harding, "Look" vice president and general counsel, declares in an aggrieved telegram that "Look" has nothing to do with the selections; that both nominations and winners are "determined by a nationwide poll of all the radio and TV editors and columnists." This was conducted by an impartial accounting firm.

"Ballots were mailed to you and six other Herald Tribune columnists and editors," he said. Well, I threw my ballot away, along with the Best Dressed Women ballot and several score ballots of "jest" this and that which drift in here every year. But I expect other columnists consciously filled their ballots out for me. Apparently I was wrong, but it is still a tiresome circulation stunt. Everyone straight on that now? The bidding:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1 heart Pass
Pass 2 clubs 2 diamonds Double
Pass Pass Pass

In today's hand, despite North's failure to keep the bidding open, South insisted on showing his fourth card suit. West did not fall into the common error of bidding two no trump. He considered it more prudent to put the opposition to work for him. This he accomplished by the simple medium of the penalty double. The result was a three trick set for a net profit of 800 points.

North added fuel to the fire by inquiring bromidically, "Did my bidding deceive you, partner?" South attempted to justify his action on the basis of his 18 high card points. "Four and a half tricks we used to call it in the old days."

It is all very well to be guided by standard valuation methods when one contemplates the cooperation of a partner, but when partner has proven to be a wash-out, one should continue the fight only with cash register tricks.

There was no excuse for South's second bid. North, by failing to keep the opening bid alive, had confessed that his hand was trickless. At such times opener must not rely on high card points. He will be fighting single handed and must depend only on sure tricks.

Not with any reasonable stretch of optimism could South count on winning more than five or six tricks himself. This amounts to signing up for at least a 500 point contribution if doubled, a contingency which should not have appeared at all remote.

To South it is recommended that in the future he be a little more circumspect than to take on two opponents single handed. The risk of being caught between two fairly strong hands should have been apparent. South was in effect attempting to fight tanks with a peashooter.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's. X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Market Continues Rise Despite Lagging Volume

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP) — The stock market continued to move upward today but turnover was sub-average.

It was a broad advance, taking in most sections of the market with some important exceptions. Although the gains were clipped in late off-taking the closing statistics were still well on the upside.

Wheels, airlines, chemicals, farm implements and even rails were nicely ahead. Late selling made the aircrafts look ragged after their initial advance. Motors and rubbers were mainly lower. Shipbuilding issues, also beneficiaries of the president's budget message, looked less rosy at the close than early in the day.

Volume of 2,010,000 shares hardly reflected enthusiasm even though it was better than yesterday's 1,860,000.

For the second straight day American Telephone headed the most active list. It made a sizable leap of 1½ to 172½ on 39,900 shares. Second was Standard Oil (N.J.) up ¼ at 49½ on 24,700 shares. Third was General Motors, off ½ at 34½ on 24,100 shares.

Next came North American Aviation, off ½ at 32½, and Bethlehem Steel, up ½ at 37½.

Among other actively traded stocks were Thompson Products, off ¼, Wilson & Co. up ¼, AVCO unchanged and Lorillard, up ¼, and helped by its new cigar set under the Old Gold label.

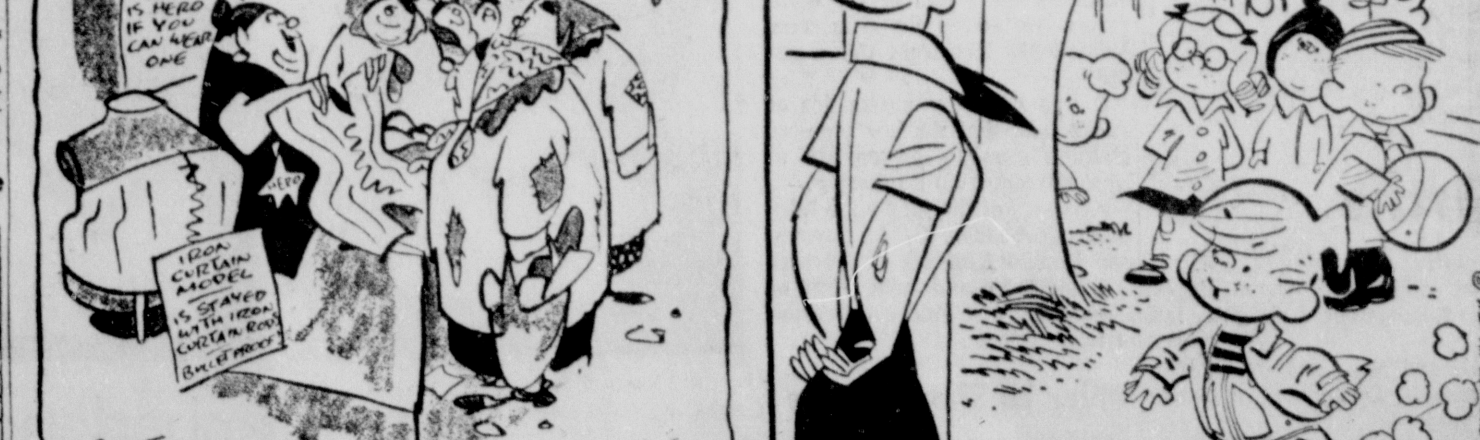

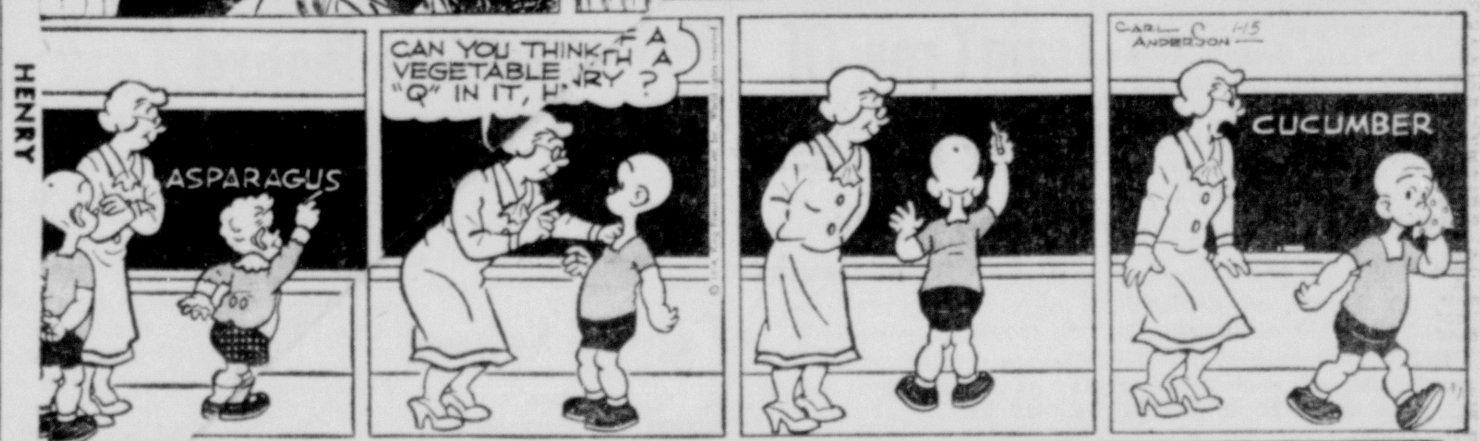

Chicago Board of Trade
CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP) — Soybean futures prices were given some fairly solid support near the close of the Board of Trade today following a report that the government is revising sharply downward its estimate of the surplus stocks from the 1957-58 crop.

Some export buying of wheat futures kept prices generally fractionally higher. But corn traded at new lows for the season or near them during most of the session.

Closing grain:
Wheat: Mar. 2.16½-¼; May 2.10½-¾; July 1.86½-¾; Sep. 1.81½-¾; Dec. 1.93.
Corn: Mar. 1.13½-¾; May 1.15; July 1.18½; Sep. 1.18½; Dec. 1.13½.
Oats: Mar. 61½; May 60½; July 57½; Sep. 58½.
Rye: Mar. 1.28-27½; May 1.23-22½; July 1.10½; Sep. 1.13½.
Soybeans: Jan. 2.23½; Mar. 2.27½-¾; May 2.30½-¾; July 2.30½-¾; Sep. 2.16½.

Committee Studies Bill Providing WVU Centers

Mining Code Amendment Set For Hearings

CHARLESTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Senate Education Committee, at its first meeting today, considered a bill to permit West Virginia University to establish and operate off-campus graduate centers on a self-supporting basis.

The committee took no action but had five outsiders in for a discussion of the measure.

Those sitting in with the committee included former Gov. Homer A. Holt, Dean C. R. Arents of the WVU College of Engineering, and Thompson Chandler, James Roark and W. A. Payne, all of Charleston.

Chandler is chairman and Roark and Payne are members of a committee interested in having a graduate center for engineering established in the Kanawha Valley chemical manufacturing area around Charleston. The committee includes representatives of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, the American Chemical Society and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The Senate Judiciary Committee reported favorably a bill to change a term of Pendleton County Circuit Court from the first Tuesday in December to the first Tuesday in November to remove a conflict with a neighboring county.

A House bill to the same effect was approved earlier in the day by the House Judiciary Committee.

Brewer is charged with the Oct. 17 gun slaying of Mrs. Audrey Tice in front of her Weirton home. Prosecutor Frank A. Pietranton said he would seek a conviction for first degree murder, provided mental tests show the man to be sane.

Pietranton asked that Brewer be given sanity tests at Weston State Hospital. Brewer earlier was given mental tests at Wheeling at the request of his counsel. Results of the examinations have not been disclosed.

County Teachers Association will meet tonight at 7:45 o'clock at Parkside School.

Reports from the association's legislative committee and other standing and special committees will be discussed.

Attending the joint installation will be officers of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Edward Ruppenkamp will be installed president of the volunteers while Mrs. John Costa will be installed president of the auxiliary unit.

A number of one dollar bills were also placed in the canisters which were distributed in local business places, clubs and public buildings.

Chief Virgil A. Parker was busy checking over the numbers of the canisters which were picked up by Edgar Bucy of the City Fire Department. The rest of the canisters are expected to be collected by today or tomorrow.

Theft Cases Cleared By City Police

Two theft cases here have been cleared up by City Police who also investigated an attempted breaking and entering of a service station late Monday night or early yesterday.

City Police Detective E. Gordon Hite said three 16-year-old local boys admitted they took seven cases of beer from a truck which was being unloaded at the home of Cumberland Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, on Beall Street.

Part of the beer was recovered by police, who said the youths took three cases on Friday and four on Monday and hid it under rocks along the Potomac River.

Two of the boys admitted taking a tool box and tow rope from the automobile of Gordon Lambert, which was parked on Brown Avenue Monday. Police said Lambert was test drilling for the new Armory site at the time of the theft of the tool box and rope which were recovered.

The boys were released in the custody of their parents pending action of Juvenile Court. Lieutenant James E. Van and Detective Hite investigated the theft on Brown Avenue.

Detective Hite said he probed the attempted breaking and entering at the Park Street Esso Station. The attempt was reported by Frank Cavans, operator of the service station. Scratch marks were found on the front door of the station.

McKeldin Cites Gains In Hiring Handicapped

BALTIMORE, Jan. 14 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said today that "ancient and unsound prejudices" against employing physically handicapped persons are being gradually broken down in Maryland.

"It is a slow process to be sure," he said, "but it is progressive. It is making gains."

The governor spoke at an annual awards luncheon of the Governor's Committee to Promote Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

He said many employers, but not yet enough, are beginning to realize that the person with some apparent physical handicap is actually less handicapped and does a better job than many other workers with less noticeable handicaps.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

Videotown After Ten Years

Cunningham and Walsh, the advertising agency, has published a report on the first decade of television in that average-sized and terribly average community which it calls Videotown and which its inhabitants call New Brunswick, N. J. Theoretically, Videotown's television habits pretty accurately reflect your television habits and the nation's at large and therefore these annual reports have been awaited with interest and even some nervousness.

It's heartening to note that the trend, after ten years, is toward sanity in our viewing and away from hysteria. "In 1948, when Cunningham and Walsh established its 'Videotown' laboratory, we found excitement about this new miracle, television, running at fever pitch. Interest was so intense in every home with a television set that it could be compared only with reaction to a world-shaking event."

Today, Videotown is much more matter of fact about TV and this has had a healthy effect on the activities of people there. For instance, entertaining and visiting went up sharply in the early days when practically no one had TV sets. In other words, you went visiting to look at someone else's TV set. The visiting dropped off sharply when set sales rose to saturation and a guy could look at his own set. Now the visiting and entertaining are up again—but this time people aren't dropping in on the Joneses to look at their TV set but to talk to the Joneses (maybe even to get away from their own TV set) which I think is a happy turn of events.

"Going out" to meetings, clubs, sports events, or just dinner and dancing rose in both '56 and '57. "People have begun to return to a more active rather than a passive role for some of their leisure time activities," say the researchers. This is good news for the people who run bowling alleys and not such good news for the people who syndicate TV shows of other people bowling.

The fickleness of the public is best illustrated by the movie attendance figures in Videotown. When people first got the sets, movie-going fell by 77 per cent. By 1953 the trend had reversed and in 1955 movie-going, while still way off, was at its best since pre-TV days. Then in 1956 (when old and fairly new movies were released by the hundreds to TV) movie-going plummeted again. In 1957, it went up—but not much. If you can discern a trend there, you're better than Cunningham and Walsh, who can't.

Magazine reading and reading in general have both been hard hit by television and still are—though there's been some improvement. Newspaper reading was never affected much and still isn't by TV. Newspaper circulation has steadily risen (probably proportionate to population rises) and the amount of time the individual spends reading his paper remains steady within a matter of a few minutes over the years. Radio listening, of course, was devastated in the early years, the percentage of evening listeners dropping from 60 per cent to 5 per cent but it has bounced back to 16 per cent.

All these slight increases in visiting, movie-going, reading, radio listening, had to be matched by some decrease in average viewing time—and they were. But it was slight. New Brunswick people (and theoretically all of us) still spent an awful lot of evening hours looking at television—7½ hours for children, 9½ for teen-agers, thirteen hours for husbands, fourteen for wives. "It would seem that a peak has been reached in the number of hours the average individual in each category spends in front of the TV set, and that from now there will be small changes (up and down) from year to year. It would take a major change in programming to upset this trend."

The "Look" magazine people were terribly upset by my charge that the "Look" awards "go invariably not to the best in TV but to the most famous, and to those who are most likely to give 'Look' a plug on their shows." John F. Harding, "Look" vice president and general counsel, declares in an aggrieved telegram that "Look" has nothing to do with the selections; that both nominations and winners are "determined by a nationwide poll of all the radio and TV editors and columnists." This was conducted by an impartial accounting firm.

"Ballots were mailed to you and six other Herald Tribune columnists and editors," he said. Well, I threw my ballot away, along with the Best Dressed Women ballot and several score other ballots of "best" this and that which drift in here every year. But I expect other columnists conscientiously filled their "Look" ballots out and mailed them in. Apparently I was wrong; but it is still a tiresome circulation stunt. Everyone straight on that now?"

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Pass
Pass	2 clubs	2 diamonds	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

In today's hand, despite North's failure to keep the bidding open, South insisted on showing his other four card suit. West did not fall into the common error of bidding two no trump. He considered it more prudent to put the opposition to work for him. This he accomplished by the simple medium of the penalty double. The result was a three trick set for a net profit of 800 points.

North added fuel to the fire by inquiring bromidically, "Did my bidding deceive you, partner?" South attempted to justify his action on the basis of his 18 high card points. "Four and a half tricks we used to call it in the olden days."

It is all very well to be guided by standard valuation methods when one contemplates the cooperation of a partner, but when partner has proven to be a wash-out, one should continue the fight only with cash register tricks.

There was no excuse for South's second bid. North, by failing to keep the opening bid alive, had confessed that his hand was trickless. At such times opener must not rely on high card points. He will be fighting single handed and must depend only on sure tricks.

Not with any reasonable stretch of optimism could South count on winning more than five or six tricks himself. This amounts to signing up for at least a 500 point contribution if doubled, a contingency which should not have appeared at all remote.

To South it is recommended that in the future he be a little more circumspect than to take on two opponents single handed. The risk of being caught between two fairly strong hands should have been apparent. South was in effect attempting to fight tanks with a peashooter.

Market Continues Rise Despite Lagging Volume

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—The stock market continued to move upward today but turnover was sub-average.

It was a broad advance, taking in most sections of the market with some important exceptions. Although the gains were clipped in late profit-taking the closing statistics were still well on the upside.

Steels, airlines, chemicals, farm implements and even rails were nicely ahead. Late selling made the aircrafts laggard after their initial advance. Motors and rubbers were mainly lower. Shipbuilding issues, also beneficiaries of the president's budget message, looked less rosy at the close than early in the day.

Volume of 2,010,000 shares hardly reflected enthusiasm even though it was better than yesterday's 1,860,000.

For the second straight day American Telephone headed the most active list. It made a sizable leap of 1½ to 172½ on 39,900 shares. Second was Standard Oil (N.J.), up ¼ at 49½ on 24,700 shares. Third was General Motors, off ¼ at 34½ on 24,100 shares.

Next came North American Aviation, off ¼ at 32½, and Bethlehem Steel, up ¼ at 37½.

Among other actively traded stocks were Thompson Products, off ¼, Wilson & Co., up ¼, AVCO unchanged and Lorillard, up ¼, and helped by its new cigar under the Old Gold label.

Chicago Board of Trade

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP)—Soybean futures prices were given some fairly solid support near the close of the Board of Trade today following a report that the government is revising sharply upward its estimate of the surplus stocks from the 1957-58 crop.

Some export buying of wheat futures kept those prices generally fractionally higher. But corn traded at new lows for the season or near there during most of the session.

Jury Relieves Train Crew Of Blame In Crash

Inquest Is Held In Piedmont Deaths

An inquest jury yesterday returned a verdict relieving the crew of a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad passenger train of all responsibility in the deaths of two Piedmont men who were killed Friday when their truck was struck at Keymont, W. Va.

The six members of the jury conducted the inquest at the office of Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle in Keyser under the direction of Prosecuting Attorney Donald C. Hott.

The jury's verdict, following testimony by investigating officers and members of the train crew, read:

Exonerates Crew

"We, the jury, find that Frank Greco and Daniel Ross came to their deaths on January 10 at Keymont, Mineral County, West Virginia, as a result of being struck by a railroad train and that there was no fault on the part of the train crew in the accident."

Both the victims were members of the Piedmont Street Department. Mr. Ross, 62, was superintendent of the department and Mr. Greco, 57, was an employee.

The accident occurred two miles east of Piedmont when the truck was struck by the passenger train as the men were traveling to the Piedmont dump in the truck. Services for Mr. Greco were held Monday, and funeral rites for Mr. Ross were conducted yesterday.

The first witness to testify at the inquest was Jesse U. Hull, 64, of 111 Main Street Keyser, engineer on the train.

Mr. Hull stated the train was traveling between 45 and 48 miles per hour and he started blowing the train's whistle and ringing its bell between 25 and 30 car lengths west of the crossing where the accident occurred.

Train Couldn't Stop

The engineer's testimony continued that the train was about seven car lengths from the crossing when he first saw the truck. He said he immediately applied his emergency brakes but that the train struck the front of the truck. He added that he did not know if the truck was stalled on the track or not but that he didn't see any movement in the cab.

Mr. Hull also testified that it appeared that the side window of the truck was fogged at the time. Fireman Ralph Sims, 45, of Cumberland, testified he was on the opposite side of the engine cab and did not see the accident. However, he corroborated the engineer's statements on the speed of the train, the sounding of the whistle and bell and added that state law puts a maximum speed of 50 miles per hour for trains at that point.

He also said that after the truck was hit he called the ambulance to the scene.

Robert Mongold, Piedmont police officer, said he measured the distance from the accident to some parked coal cars which were located on another track and which were believed to have obscured the vision of the truck driver. He stated the cars were located 187 feet from the crossing.

It was noted by authorities at the inquest that the law requires railroad cars to be parked at least 150 feet from a crossing.

Members of the jury were Miss Gertrude Seaber, O. A. Harmon and Donald Kingery of Keyser; William Price and John White of Piedmont; and Andrew Preston of near Keyser.

57 Tri-State Students Take College Board Test

Some 57 Tri-State area students, nearly all of them high school seniors, took the College Entrance Examination Board's scholastic aptitude test Saturday at Allegany High School.

This board offers a program of tests which are required for admission by many colleges. The tests consist of the three-hour scholastic aptitude test and a series of one-hour achievement tests.

The tests are administered on several scheduled dates during the year at testing centers throughout this country and overseas. Candidates register for the tests in advance, take the tests at centers most convenient for them and have their test scores reported to any college or university.

The scores may also be reported to sponsors of scholarship programs.

The next testing date scheduled for Cumberland is March 15, when pupils may take either the scholastic aptitude tests or achievement tests or both types of tests, which will be given at Allegany High School.

John R. Snyder, guidance counselor at Allegany, supervised the test, assisted by Robert Hutcherson and Carleton Shore, both Allegany teachers.

One junior and one college student took the test Saturday along with 55 seniors.

The following took the test:

Fog Sweeps Over Area In Wake Of Rain

Highways Are Wet; Motorists Cautioned

Fog swept over the tri-state area in the wake of yesterday's warm rain which melted early morning sleet and snow, causing State Police to issue caution warnings to motorists traveling the highways in Western Maryland.

Temperatures remained almost at a standstill throughout Allegany and Garrett counties much of the day as the rain turned the sleet and ice to slush, and then dissipated it altogether.

The high temperature in Cumberland was 37 degrees, which did not vary from noon until 7 o'clock last night. The low for the 24-hour period yesterday was 29 degrees.

Rainfall in the Cumberland area was recorded at 1.14 inches, including .40 inch of measured sleet precipitation.

Cumberland Street Department crews were busy spreading salt and ashes on hilly spots in the city. Other crews opened clogged catch basins as quickly as possible as the ice and sleet melted under warmer temperatures and the rain.

Chains were not necessary yesterday in the city although motorists had to use caution on the streets which were wet and slushy much of the time.

In Garrett County, Oakland had a low of 26 degrees, which rose to 33 yesterday and then remained at that point all afternoon. It was still raining last night and fog moved in quickly at nightfall. Roads were sparsely covered with ice and snow.

Frostburg reported an inch and a quarter of snow and sleet which melted quickly in yesterday's rain. Highways in the vicinity were very wet last night.

Maryland State Police at LaVale said the roads in both Allegany and Garrett counties were "very wet," although most of the slush had melted. Dense fog, however, made travel conditions bad both east and west of Cumberland.

Highways were clogged early yesterday with automobiles which were unable to negotiate the hilly areas until State Roads Commis-

Labor Council Defers Action On Ouster Order

AFL-CIO Bakery Local Is New Affiliate

The Western Maryland Labor Council last night complied with one AFL-CIO directive and deferred action until next month on a second.

The council, which represents some 4,000 AFL-CIO members in this area, admitted to membership local bakery workers who recently voted to join the new AFL-CIO sponsored Bakers union.

Local 246, Bakery and Confectionary Workers of America, unanimously voted late in December to affiliate with the American Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union, AFL-CIO, which was set up to succeed the ousted union.

The area AFL-CIO council deferred action until its February 11 meeting on another AFL-CIO order to expel locals of the Teamsters Union.

The order was directed at the 1,600 member Teamsters Local 453 here.

Officials said action is being deferred here since the action taken by the state AFL-CIO Council was not clear, and that the delay will allow time to get clarification of action on the state level.

At a meeting last week in Washington, the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO Council expelled all Teamsters locals but allowed its president, teamster Harry Cohen, to resign.

Left as a vice president of the State AFL-CIO Council was C. E. Stutzman, of Cumberland, and four other Teamster vice presidents.

Mr. Stutzman was elected recently as secretary of the Western Maryland council.

Delegates voted to support the stand taken by a five-man state AFL-CIO committee which was named to study a proposal to increase Blue Cross rates 22 percent.

Fire Guts Fifth St. Grocery

Another Blaze Damages Bridge

The Fifth Street Grocery in South Cumberland was gutted last night in one of two fires fought yesterday by city firemen.

The fire at the small one-story grocery located at 309 Fifth Street, broke out about 10:25 p. m. and South End firemen were the first on the scene.

Later, firemen from Central Fire Station went to give assistance but returned to their station when it was learned South End had the blaze under control.

Firemen said the cause of the fire was undetermined and it was not known how much damage was caused or the amount of property loss.

South End was still at the scene shortly before midnight, checking the blaze. Heavy smoke was reported billowing from the building after the fire was discovered.

The store is operated by Mrs. Ruth M. Lewis, 245 East Ost Street, and is owned by Mrs. W. M. Courtney, of 523 Memorial Avenue, who said that the building is covered by insurance.

In the other call received by local firemen, Central and West Side checked a two-alarm blaze at the east end of the new bridge being constructed across Wills Creek on Baltimore Street.

The fire was reported at 12:12 p. m. and traffic was tied up along the temporary bridge for about half an hour as firemen brought the flames under control. They said two 50-gallon oil heaters being used to keep newly-poured concrete from freezing were blamed for the fire which burned canvas placed over the concrete forms, and also burned the wooden forms.

3 Passengers In Bus Crash Still Critical

Two Are Killed On Pa. Turnpike

Three persons injured in a Continental Trailways bus crash which claimed the lives of two persons Monday night near Bedford were reported in "critical" condition last night at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

They are Clemmie Johnson of Jacksonville, N. C., Robert Ehenstam, of Salt Lake City, Utah, and James Murray of Orem, Utah. Attaches said Clemmie Johnson and Mr. Ehenstam are unconscious, while Mr. Murray is semi-conscious.

Killed in the crash along the Pennsylvania Turnpike were Miss Marion Lay, 55, of New York City and Charles Malloy, 22, of Albion, Iowa.

Four passengers in the bus who are reported in "fair" condition at the hospital are Paul Nelson, Muncie, Ind., Joseph Pukalski, of Baltimore, Arthur Cortina-Torrence, Calif., and John Fisher, Burger, Tex. Cecil Henson, of Danville, Ky., is reported in "good" condition.

A total of 16 passengers and the driver, Gordon Huleman, 38, of Uniontown, were injured in the accident which occurred when the bus skidded out of control on the icy turnpike and was ripped into two chunks against a bridge pillar.

The bus careened into the middle support of an overhead bridge. A rear section of several seats, including the rear wheels, was ripped off and jammed against the pillar. The front section skated about 100 yards before coming to a stop on its remaining two wheels.

The crash occurred about 11 p. m. Monday some 12 miles west of the Bedford Interchange. A fleet of seven ambulances from the Bedford-Everett area went to the scene but had difficulty reaching the turnpike due to slippery roads. The bus was east-bound from Pittsburgh to New York.

The body is at the Bolden Funeral Home.
